Towards applying a green infrastructure approach in the Gauteng City-Region Christina Culwick, Samkelisiwe Khanyile, Kerry Bobbins, Stuart Dunsmore, Anne Fitchett, Lerato Monama, Raishan Naidu, Gillian Sykes, Jennifer van den Bussche, Marco Vieira, 2019-12-11 In the context of heightened climate variability thinking about ways to redesign our urban areas with more sustainable infrastructure solutions is becoming more and more important Green infrastructure GI is emerging as an alternative approach to traditional grey infrastructure in urban planning and development Its emergence can be understood in terms of the growing demand for infrastructure and services increased concerns over natural resource constraints and climate change and the negative impacts associated with traditional approaches to designing and building cities It has been proposed that GI can provide the same services as traditional infrastructure at a similar capital cost while also providing a range of additional benefits However despite the increasing examples of successful urban GI applications traditional infrastructure continues to dominate due to the lack of systematic evidence to support GI implementation As a result there has been an increase in calls from policy and decision makers for a greater evidence base on the benefits of GI as well as for practical guidelines on its implementation Towards applying a green infrastructure approach in the Gauteng City Region is the GCRO's third report in its ongoing research into Green assets and infrastructure The first two reports in this project series were more theoretically grounded and policy oriented whereas this third report is more practical in nature The first report explored the basic principles around GI assessed the extent of ecological features in Gauteng and the way governments in the province think about planning and maintenance of green assets The second report responded to some of the challenges identified in the first report and in particular the importance of government officials and practitioners in exploring how international green infrastructure plans could be applied in the Gauteng context This third report builds on the findings of the aforementioned reports and the project's CityLab series which highlighted the need to build an evidence base as critical for garnering support for and as well as enhancing investment in the GI approach Unlike the more theoretically grounded earlier reports this report comprises four technical sections and practical reflections on how a GI approach could be incorporated into urban planning in the GCR and in other similar urban contexts

"Township economies": Uses, meanings and key debates in the Gauteng context Mamokete Modiba, This paper presents multiple meanings of township economies and the implications of key debates around framing township economic development Overlaps in various national and provincial government strategies have included government procurement in townships settlement upgrading promoting entrepreneurship and creating a conducive regulatory environment for productivity These efforts notwithstanding the paper points out the need to include township development within broader national policy and encourages discussion on important concerns such as bringing jobs to people or people to jobs

Scholarship of education and human rights in diversity Erika M. Serfontein, Charl C. Wolhuter, Shantha Naidoo, 2023-03-01 The objective of this book is to highlight the need and value of imbuing the dynamic intersections between education human rights and diversity with perspectives from the Global South The chapters approach key intellectual conundrums of the day from a Global South perspective to reflect a credible scholarly footprint in Africa and in the SADC region This is deemed timely considering that the field is deeply embedded in western Eurocentric and overall Global North dominance This book will provide a Southern perspective on education and human rights in diversity by unpacking each of the following key areas in the intersection between education human rights and diversity from a Southern perspective comparative international perspectives citizenship education human rights literacies human rights education pedagogy learner discipline in schools aggression and bullying in schools addressing human trafficking by means of human rights education social justice and the decolonisation of human rights and human rights education Precarious Liberation Franco Barchiesi,2011-06-01 Examines the relationship of precarious employment to state policies on citizenship and social inclusion in the context of postapartheid South Africa

Uganda,2013 Responsible Reproductive Choice in the 21st Century Malcolm de Roubaix,2023-01-05 This book systematically traces the development significance and implications of female reproductive choice Paramount is the right to safe termination of pregnancy TOP In the USA these rights are under threat after the reversal of Roe v Wade 1973 confirming the eternally contested nature of the pro life pro choice standoff The approach is unique and from all angles historical social emotional and legal South African experience is evaluated against a global backdrop Arguing from an ethics of responsibility the book presents a justified balanced rational and moderate position on the moral acceptability of TOP It proposes that the morality TOP be evaluated by balancing inherent foetal moral significance against contingent potentiality context and circumstance that may determine foetal development TOP is a choice a woman faces with each pregnancy It always has moral implications exclusive to the life of the woman So too do continued pregnancy and parenthood but these are of greater magnitude and duration South Africa News Update ,1997 Consists of reproductions of articles from South African newspapers Identification and Citizenship in Africa Séverine Awenengo Dalberto,Richard

Banégas,2021-05-10 In the context of a global biometric turn this book investigates processes of legal identification in Africa from below asking what this means for the relationship between citizens and the state Almost half of the population of the African continent is thought to lack a legal identity and many states see biometric technology as a reliable and efficient solution to the problem However this book shows that biometrics far from securing identities and avoiding fraud or political distrust can even participate in reinforcing exclusion and polarizing debates on citizenship and national belonging It highlights the social and political embedding of legal identities and the resilience of the documentary state Drawing on empirical research conducted across 14 countries the book documents the processes practices and meanings of legal identification in Africa from the 1950s right up to the biometric boom Beyond the classic opposition between surveillance and recognition it demonstrates how analysing the social uses of IDs and tools of identification can give a fresh account of the state at work the practices of citizenship and the role of bureaucracy in the writing of the self in African societies This book will be of an important reference for students and scholars of African studies politics human security and anthropology and the sociology of the state

Towards more effective collaboration by higher education institutions for greater regional development in the Gauteng City-Region Robert Bergman,2014-11-19 Higher education institutions HEIs in the Gauteng City Region GCR and elsewhere are increasingly being called upon to do more than their traditional roles of teaching and research They are now expected to collaborate and engage with other stakeholders with a view to contributing directly and indirectly to social and economic development in their localities Such an orientation includes having HEIs actively fostering public private partnerships and other initiatives that enhance equitable regional development The adoption of such a focus has implications for all aspects of these institutions activities as well as for the policy and regulatory framework in which they operate This Occasional Paper reflects critically on the role of HEIs in regional development It surveys current debates on the matter and draws out some of the implications on how we ought to think further about the current state of government industryacademia interaction and collaboration for development in the GCR It is motivated by an awareness of the increasing importance of higher education in the regional development discourse alongside a body of international theory and practice on the contribution of HEIs to regional development A cornerstone of this body of literature is the so called triple helix framework within which government industry and academia work intimately intensely and collaboratively towards a common vision of regional development Within this framework HEIs are considered to be a public good that must play a large meaningful and relevant role in the development and improvement of the cities and regions where they are located 1 2 They do not and cannot stand completely outside the realities of their geographic social cultural and political environment The intended audience for this report extends beyond academics and HEI administrators to include government officials business and labour leaders civil society and citizens because a discussion on stimulating and improving the GCR must be much more than an academic exercise The collaboration that is essential to regional development requires stakeholders to be familiar with a wide spectrum of issues of importance to individual constituencies Each constituency must add value and insight to the discussion by drawing on their specific knowledge experience and self interests Establishing this common ground is fundamental to initiating meaningful debate about what the GCR can and should be and how regional HEIs can work more collaboratively creatively and effectively to improve and advance the region

Investing in Health Research and Development Ad Hoc Committee on Health Research Relating to Future Intervention Options,1996 This report deals with policy for health R the continually changing nature of several major microbial threats the emergence of major epidemics of noncommunicable disease and injury and inefficiency and inequity in health systems

The Institutionalisation of Disaster Risk Reduction Gideon van Riet,2016-12-01 The past three decades have seen a global shift in disaster management from an event driven response to a could be risk management approach Disaster risk reduction DRR has become entrenched as a dominant paradigm within the field of disaster management More than a decade after adopting DRR legislation in South Africa there remains a dearth of evidence that this has translated into substantive action This book examines the institutionalisation of DRR in South Africa conceived of as a political economy of knowledge production Using a critical theory approach the book does not consider why DRR is failing but instead asks why DRR As such it explores possibilities beyond DRR s narrow optic and offers new insights into disaster management through the lens of South Africa This is valuable reading for graduate students and academics working in disaster studies geography public policy and development post development studies as well as policy makers
