Culinary Colonialism, Caribbean Cookbooks, and Recipes for National Independence Keja L. Valens, 2024-02-16 Women across the Caribbean have been writing reading and exchanging cookbooks since at least the turn of the nineteenth century These cookbooks are about much more than cooking Through cookbooks Caribbean women and a few men have shaped embedded and contested colonial and domestic orders delineated the contours of independent national cultures and transformed tastes for independence into flavors of domestic autonomy Culinary Colonialism Caribbean Cookbooks and Recipes for National Independence integrates new documents into the Caribbean archive and presents them in a rare pan Caribbean perspective The first book length consideration of Caribbean cookbooks Culinary Colonialism joins a growing body of work in Caribbean studies and food studies that considers the intersections of food writing race class gender and nationality A selection of recipes culled from the archive that Culinary Colonialism assembles allows readers to savor the confluence of culinary traditions and local specifications that connect and distinguish national cuisines in the Caribbean

The Oldest Foods on Earth John Newton, 2016-02-01 This is a book about Australian food not the foods that European Australians cooked from ingredients they brought with them but the flora and fauna that nourished the Aboriginal peoples for over 50 000 years It is because European Australians have hardly touched these foods for over 200 years that I am writing it We celebrate cultural and culinary diversity yet shun foods that grew here before white settlers arrived We love superfoods from exotic locations yet reject those that grow here We say we revere sustainable local produce yet ignore Australian native plants and animals that are better for the land than those European ones In this the most important of his books John Newton boils down these paradoxes by arguing that if you are what you eat we need to eat different foods foods that will help to reconcile us with the land and its first inhabitants But the tide is turning European Australians are beginning to accept and relish the flavours of Australia everything from kangaroo to quandong from fresh muntries to the latest addition magpie goose With recipes from chefs such as Peter Gilmore Maggie Beer and Ren Redzepi's sous chef Beau Clugston The Oldest Foods on Earth will convince you that this is one food revolution that really matters
