

Skill Sheet 2-1

Checking a Responsive Person continued

2. Provide care for any conditions found

- If you check for any signs or symptoms of an injury or illness, call 9-1-1 or the designated emergency number (if necessary) and provide care according to the conditions that you find and your level of knowledge and training. Be alert to signs that the person's condition is worsening.
- If the person has no apparent signs or symptoms of injury or illness, head tilt or eye test is a satisfactory position. Continue to watch for changes in the person's condition.

Skill Sheet 2-2

Checking a Person Who Appears to Be Unresponsive

1. Check for responsiveness and breathing. Shout to get the person's attention, using the person's name if you know it. If there is no response, tap the person's shoulder. If the person is on their side or on the bottom of the person's foot, if the person is not oriented and does not respond, check for normal breathing.

- Check for responsiveness and breathing for no more than 10 to 15 seconds.
- Look for or listen for gasping or not-normal breathing.

2. If the person responds and is breathing normally but is not fully awake:

- Send someone to call 9-1-1 or the designated emergency number and/or obtain an AED and first aid kit.
- Interview bystanders using SAMPLE as a guide! and do a head-to-toe check for further more information.
- Place the person into the recovery position by rolling the person onto their left or right side.

3. If the person does not respond and is not breathing or is only gasping:

- Send someone to call 9-1-1 or the designated emergency number and to obtain an AED and first aid kit (if you are alone, commence CPR without delay).
- If the person is face-down, carefully roll the person onto their back. If necessary, move the person to a firm, flat surface.
- Immediately begin CPR starting with compressions and use an AED as soon as possible, if you are trained to do so.
