Sequence Lost In The Fog Story:

Hidden Treasures: Short Stories Cathy Smith, 2018-12-25 Hidden Treasures is a volume of short literary poetic prose stories with socially progressive arguments. The stories range from themes of serendipity, cloning, property rights, and race relations. These stories are appropriate for older children, teens, as well as adults. Hidden Treasures the first story and theme is the story of an elderly Cherokee woman who helped run her uncle's cotton gin down south. They were a little unusual in that they hired Native Americans, Blacks, Jews, and anyone who wanted to work during the 50s, an era of Jim Crow. She lives barely inside the boundary of a National Forest and was originally included inside that property on a grandfather clause; therefore, she did not have to pay property taxes, which is true. Then suddenly, the government said she owed a huge amount of property tax because a recent land survey said she was actually outside of the National Park. She becomes frantic and contacts her grandson, but he only has enough money to help her from time to time. He doesn't have much more than she does. She has more family that she hopes will help save her home. A wild fox is both a protagonist and a suspected antagonist. Set in the 50s, Serendipity is sometimes the way of the smallest soul on the planet. In the case of our second story, Skipping Stones, there are two small souls starting a new life. A very pleasant interracial freedom story about two ex-cons, one black, one white. The third story, The Wishing Well, is a fantasy story of a runaway wild child growing up naturally. Both stories in poetic prose. Clean, gentle reading for teens to adults. The fourth story, The Sixth Day, is a look at a government security agency which cloned a human. We take a close look at his personal life, his rebelliousness, and finally acceptance. The fifth story, The Magician, is a fantasy story about a nineteen-year-old boy, Winter Moon, who finds out he can create prosperity for all in a very unusual way. The sixth story, The Songs of Dolphin, is a fictionalized set of two true accounts which describe an unusual dolphin sighting and an escape. The seventh story, The Bookstore Cat, is an account of a fiesty cat living in a basement used book store. Empathetic shape changer story with a surprise ending. These stories are suitable for older children, teens, and adults.

Stories and the Brain Paul B. Armstrong, 2020-05-26 This book explains how the brain interacts with the social world and why stories matter. How do our brains enable us to tell and follow stories? And how do stories affect our minds? In Stories and the Brain, Paul B. Armstrong analyzes the cognitive processes involved in constructing and exchanging stories, exploring their role in the neurobiology of mental functioning. Armstrong argues that the ways in which stories order events in time imitate actions and relate our experiences to others' lives are correlated to cortical processes of temporal binding, the circuit between action and perception, and the mirroring operations underlying embodied intersubjectivity. He reveals how recent neuroscientific findings about how the brain works, how it assembles neuronal syntheses without a central controller, illuminate cognitive processes involving time, action, and self/other relations that are central to narrative. An extension of his previous book How Literature Plays with the Brain, this new study applies Armstrong's analysis of the cognitive value of aesthetic harmony and dissonance to narrative. Armstrong explains how narratives help the brain negotiate the never-ending conflict between its need for pattern synthesis and constancy and its need for flexibility adaptability and openness to change The neuroscience of these interactions is part of the reason stories give shape to our lives even as our lives give rise to stories Taking up the age old question of what our ability to tell stories reveals about language and the mind this truly interdisciplinary project should be of interest to humanists and cognitive scientists alike
