English Grammar Talmy Givón, 1993 The approach to language and grammar that motivates this book is unabashedly functional grammar is not just a system of empty rules it is a means to an end an instrument for constructing concise coherent communication In grammar as in music good expression rides on good form Figuratively and literally grammar like musical form must make sense But for the instrument to serve its purpose it must first exist the rules must be real they can be explicitly described and taught This book is intended for both students and teachers at college level for both native and nonnative speakers With the guidance of a teacher this book will serve as a thorough introduction to the grammar of English Volume II continues with syntactic and communicative complexity embedded clauses verb complements relative clauses detransitive voice passive anti passive impersonal and middle voice reflexive and reciprocal constructions focus and topic constructions nondeclarative speech acts It closes with interclausal connectivity conjoined and subordinate clauses the grammar of discourse coherence clause chains and thematic paragraphs

Designing Second Language Performance Assessments John M. Norris, 1998 This volume focuses on the decision making potential provided by second language performance assessments The authors first situate performance assessment within a broader discussion of alternatives in language assessment and in educational assessment in general They then discuss issues in performance assessment design implementation reliability and validity Finally they present a prototype framework for second language performance assessment based on the integration of theoretical underpinnings and research findings from the task based language teaching literature the language testing literature and the educational measurement literature The authors outline test and item specifications and they present numerous examples of prototypical language tasks They also propose a research agenda focusing on the operationalization of second language performance assessments
