Walther, Vincent van Gogh, 1987 This man will go insane or leave us all far behind prophesied the great impressionist Camille Pissarro. The man was Vincent Van Gogh (1853-1890), a vicar's son born at Groot Zundert near Breda in Holland. Van Gogh was a solitary, despairing, and self-destructive man and followed a variety of professions before becoming an artist. He craved recognition throughout his life, which was denied until after his self-inflicted death. Today, he is universally recognized as one of the great forerunners of 20th-century painting and one of the tragic masters of art. This study by the two leading experts, Reiner Metzger and Ingo F. Walther, who previously published the first ever Complete Paintings of Van Gogh, follows the artist from the early gloom-laden paintings in which he captured the misery of peasants and workers in his home province through the bright and colourful paintings from his period in Paris to the work of his final years under the southern sun in Arles, where at last he found the light that produced the unmistakable Van Gogh style. Bombarded by influences from every quarter, Van Gogh tried a number of approaches and techniques before leaving Arles in 1888 in search of a new style.

and in a feverish burst of creative energy that marked the last two and a half years of his life he produced the 465 paintings on which his immortality rests      Personal Recollections of Vincent Van Gogh Elisabeth Duquesne Van Gogh,2016-12-27
