Econometrics Badi H. Baltagi, 2011-05-25 This textbook teaches some of the basic econometric methods and the underlying assumptions behind them. It also includes a simple and concise treatment of more advanced topics in spatial correlation, panel data, limited dependent variables, regression diagnostics, specification testing, and time series analysis. Each chapter has a set of theoretical exercises as well as empirical illustrations using real economic applications. These empirical exercises usually replicate a published article using Stata or EViews.

Dynamic Econometrics For Empirical Macroeconomic Modelling Ragnar Nymoen, 2019-07-09 For Masters and PhD students in Economics. In this textbook, the duality between the equilibrium concept used in dynamic economic theory and the stationarity of economic variables is explained and used in the presentation of single equations models and systems of equations such as VARs, recursive models, and simultaneous equations models. The book also contains chapters on exogeneity in the context of estimation, policy analysis, and forecasting, automatic computer-based variable selection, and how it can aid in the specification of an empirical macroeconomic model, and finally on a common framework for model-based economic forecasting. Supplementary materials and notes are available on the publisher's website.

For the empirical exercises, some SAS programs are provided to replicate the results. Most graphs are plotted using EViews. Some of the problems and solutions are obtained from Econometric Theory (ET) and these are reprinted with the permission of Cambridge University Press. I would like to thank Peter C. B. Phillips and the editors of the Problems and Solutions section, Alberto Holly and Juan Dolado for this useful service to the econometrics profession. I would also like to thank my colleague James M. Griffin for providing many empirical problems and data sets. I have also used three empirical data sets from Lott and Ray 1992. The reader is encouraged to apply these econometric techniques to their own data sets and to replicate the results of published articles. Some journals' authors provide data sets upon request or are readily available on the web. Other empirical examples are given in Lott and Ray 1992 and Berndt 1991. Finally, I would like to thank my students Wei Wen Xiong, Ming Jang Weng and Kiseok Nam who solved several of these exercises. Please report any errors, typos or suggestions to Badi H.
