 intersects with problematic histories of racial encoding in linguistic visual and algorithmic media What is at stake when categories like color race and ethnicity are transformed into a common language lexicon or industry standard And more critically how can we avoid the epistemic and ontological violence that seems inevitable in organizing color into a series of grammars syntaxes indexes and protocols Color Protocols offers a series of responses to these questions and others It begins with the premise that color is central to the history of systemic racism and in turn that the encoding of race vis vis color is an intrinsic aspect of chromatic technologies The book s eighteen curated essays edited by Carolyn Kane and Lida Zeitlin Wu are written by scholars from across the arts social sciences and humanities Each section contains both original essays and republished excerpts fundamental to understanding how the history of color technology and its racialized double valences
