Lindy Heinecken

Sandf Recruitment Forms 2015:

South Africa's Post-Apartheid Military Lindy Heinecken, 2020-01-01 This timely book examines how the South African National Defence Force has adapted to the country's new security political and social environment since 1994. In South Africa's changed political state, how has civilian control of the military been implemented and what does this mean for defence in a democracy? This book presents an overview of the security environment, how the mission focus of the military has changed and the implications for force procurement, force preparation, force employment and force sustainability. The author addresses other issues such as the effect of integrating former revolutionary soldiers into a professional armed force, the effect of affirmative action on meritocracy, recruitment and retention, military veterans looking at the difficulties they face in reintegrating back into society and finding gainful employment, gender equality and mainstreaming the rise of military unions and why a confrontational instead of a more corporatist approach to labour relations has emerged. HIV/AIDS and the consequences this holds for the military in terms of its operational effectiveness. In closing, the author highlights key events that have caused the SANDF to become lost in transition and transformation, spelling out some lessons learned. The conclusions she draws are pertinent for the future of defence security and civil-military relations of countries around the world.

Researching the Military Helena Carreiras, Celso Castro, Sabina Frederic, 2016-03-02 Researching the Military focuses on the experiences of researchers who study the military around the world. It explores the historical, social, institutional and personal factors that frame research and scrutinize the way knowledge in this area impacts society and policy. More than merely analyzing research experiences yet necessarily including them, it is also about the experiences of researchers, their position with regard to the object of their studies, the institutional context where they work and the way their research impacts the academic and policy-making fields in the respective countries. The common theme to the various chapters is reflexivity, a conscious effort at addressing the conditions of research and the position of the researcher and the research participants in that interface. By collecting diverse experiences of researchers from across the world, this volume aims to enhance reflexivity in the field of military studies and to encourage the exchange of knowledge between the academic field and the military arena. This book will be of much interest to students of military studies, research methods, sociology, social anthropology and security studies in general.

Silencing the Guns in Africa Antonio Garcia, Jacob Udo-Udo, 2025-03-14 The scholarship of this book is drawn from local and international experts by framing critically a number of discourses on matters of security, conflict, violence and peace on the African continent. It is indeed a breath of fresh air to the scientific community largely because it contributes to the on-going debates on security issues. Dr Ntsikelelo Benjamin Breakfast, Director of the Center for Security, Peace and Conflict Resolution at Nelson Mandela University. This book makes a deep contribution to scholarly literature on conflict studies, peacekeeping and peacebuilding in Africa. Written largely from the perspective of the applied social sciences, it is empirically rich and offers refreshing insights into social behaviour in military contexts This is a timely contribution because current public discourse in South Africa is centred on the gains and missed opportunities of thirty years of democracy and new lenses are welcome Many of the chapters reflect South African experiences This is to be welcomed as it demonstrates that scholars and practitioners from the country are reflecting on the complexities of South African experiences of defence and security matters in contemporary times Dr Sandy Africa Director of Research at Mapungubwe Institute for Strategic Reflection MISTRA This volume brings together the voices of scholars and practitioners a diverse group of writers who are passionate about and committed to creating a safer more prosperous and peaceful Africa Each with their own specialism this work combines many different world views and approaches Conflict in Africa is an impossibly broad topic to cover in a single edited publication and so we focus on a select number of case studies expositions and themes

International Clinical Sociology Jan Marie Fritz, 2020-12-22 Clinical sociology is a multidisciplinary field that seeks to improve life situations for individuals and groups This book showcases the art and science of clinical sociology from around the world It is the first book to present basic clinical sociology diagrams and models in addition to detailed histories of clinical sociology in the United States Quebec France and Japan A range of interventions are discussed in light of a region's economic social political and disciplinary history The book presents illustrative case studies from leaders in the field and it serves the need of graduate level courses from around the world

Peacekeeping in Africa Marco Jowell, 2018-02-21 In recent decades African states have developed an impressive infrastructure for training their peacekeepers In addition peacekeeping peacebuilding and associated areas of conflict resolution have become significant areas of employment Marco Jowell has spent a decade working in peacekeeping training in East Africa initially as one of the foreign Technical Advisers at the Peace Support Operations PSO training centre in Kenya the International Peace Support Training Centre IPSTC and subsequently as a strategic adviser to the Rwanda Peace Academy Using first hand experience he considers how military forces from a variety of African states with great differences in history language and political systems and with militaries with different cultures and capabilities can conduct complicated multinational peacekeeping operations He shows how regional peacekeeping training centres provide an environment for African elites predominately military to interact with each other through shared training and experiences This process of interaction or socialisation improves skills but also encourages cohesion so that future African led missions will be managed by well trained officers who are comfortable and willing to work within a regional or Pan African framework Jowell shows that part of the aim of peacekeeping training centres is to foster a Pan African outward looking ideology or disposition as well as improving technical ability This book will be essential reading for all involved with African military and security studies and analysts of peacekeeping training and operations
