Ethiopian Elites' Political Cultures: a critical juncture Solomon Hailemariam PhD,2025-05-09 Recurrent ethnic conflicts have been seen in Ethiopia especially during the last three decades since the introduction of a governance structure of ethnic federalism in 1991 Attempts to bring political stability to the country have not been successful as competing political cultures constantly struggle for hegemony Political constituencies have fragmented based on sub national political cultures This book shows the influence of Amhara Oromo and Tigrayan political cultures in Ethiopia and their contribution to the recurrent ethnic conflict in the country The book used the concepts of political culture and neo patrimonialism as analytical tools to understand the differences among and between the educated people from these ethnic groups The findings show that members of each ethnic group are deeply entrenched in their own culture with clear distrust of the political motives of other ethnicities Beyond the disagreements on political history the educated elites accuse each other when it comes to the many challenges faced by the country They accuse each other of state capture corruption inciting ethnic conflicts malpractice poor governance misguided policies divide and rule practices and misappropriation of the nation's economic wealth The elites themselves do not shoulder responsibility for any failure in the country and do not show any interest in understanding other points of view do not show sincere respect for the other's value but claim privileged political positions in present day

Ethiopia for past accomplishments Religious Newcomers and the Nation State Erik Sengers, Thijl Sunier, 2010 In recent years it has become clear that the integration of Islam into the political and social framework of European societies will be crucial to the successful future of the region This volume steps back from the often heated debates over the issue to view it in a wider context through historical and comparative analyses of the integration of religious minorities in the Netherlands and France In addition it broadens the scope of the question by focusing not only on Muslims but on Protestant and Catholic religious minorities as well Paper, Performance, and the State : Social Change and Political Culture in Mughal India Farhat Hasan, 2022-02-03 Looking at the political processes in early modern South Asia as shaped by state formation from below this work argues that outside the imperial and trans regional contexts the Mughal state subsisted on the mutually empowering relations with the elites and common people The "New Culture" Weiping Sun, Mingcang

Zhang, 2015-08-25 Contemporary China in an era of globalization and in the midst of transition now faces both great opportunities and unprecedented challenges People are more and more becoming economic man technological man and one dimensional man and are increasingly losing the virtue dignity and beauty of human nature When humanity's habitat grows smaller and smaller as economic technological informational and social interaction become more and more intense while conflicts of interest and clashing values are growing increasingly heated how should different religions national groups and states deal with each other As environmental pollution worsens our ecosystem becomes increasingly unstable and population growth becomes an unbearable burden where shall we look for a homeland where we can rest our weary minds To answer these daunting questions and address their attendant challenges all human activities including institutional arrangements economic constructions and science and the arts must all start from the change of humankind re think the true nature of humankind and its needs and consider the prospect of humankind evolving into a better humankind This book is an exploration of such inquiries English Identity and Political Culture in the Fourteenth Century Andrea Ruddick, 2013-11-21

A study of the nature of national sentiment in fourteenth century England in its political and constitutional context

State/Culture George Steinmetz, 2018-05-31 What impact does culture have on state formation and public policy How do states affect national and local cultures How is the ongoing cultural turn in theory reshaping our understanding of the Western and modernizing states long viewed as the radiant core of a universal context free rationality This eagerly awaited volume brings together pioneering scholars who reexamine the sociology of the state and historical processes of state formation in light of developments in cultural analysis The volume first examines some of the unsatisfying ways in which cultural processes have been discussed in social science literature on the state It demonstrates new and sophisticated approaches to understanding both the role culture plays in the formation of states and the state's influence on broad cultural developments The book includes theoretical essays and empirical studies the latter essays are concerned with early modern European nations non European countries undergoing political modernization and twentieth century Western nation states A wide range of perspectives are presented in order to delineate this emergent area of research Together the essays constitute an agenda setting work for the social sciences

Intending the World Ralph Pettman, 2008 How we look at the world is informed mainly by our assumptions and the ways in which we rationalise them Seldom do we rely or allow ourselves to rely on gut thinking or intuition Intending the World shows how rationalism which is our primary approach in thinking about world affairs is in crisis By studying the world rationalistically we objectify it and we look at it as detached from ourselves But in doing so we cease to see that we are using a perspective that limits as well as enlightens In a disciplinary first Ralph Pettman provides an account of twenty first century international relations in terms of phenomenology one of the main philosophical attempts to compensate for these limits He explores how this re embedded use of reason can successfully describe and explain world affairs in ways unused by rationalists Intending the World follows the lead of the German philosopher Edmund Husserl It looks at the world not only in terms of things in themselves but also in terms of why it is we keep willing the world the way we do

Rethinking Geopolitics Simon Dalby, Gearoid O. u Tuathail, 2002-01-22 Rethinking Geopolitics argues that the concept of geopolitics needs to be conceptualised anew as the twenty first century approaches Challenging conventional geopolitical assumptions contributors explore theories of post modern geopolitics historical formulations of states and cold wars the geopolitics of the Holocaust the gendered dimension of Kurdish insurgency the cold war world political cartoons concerning Bosnia Time magazine representations of the Persian Gulf the Zapatistas and the Chiapas revolt the new cyber politics conflict simulations in the US military the emergence of a new geopolitics of global security Exploring how popular cultural assumptions about geography and politics constitute the discourses of contemporary violence and political economy Rethinking Geopolitics shows that we must rethink the struggle for knowledge space and power

A Tributary Model of State Formation Berhanu Abegaz, 2018-06-09 A Tributary Model of State Formation Ethiopia 1600 2015 addresses the perplexing question of why a pedigreed Ethiopian state failed to transform itself into a nation state Using a comparative institutionalist framework this book explores why Ethiopia an Afroasian civilizational state has yet to build a modern political order comprising a sturdy state the rule of law and accountability to the ruled The book provides a theoretical framework that contrasts the European and the Afroasian modes of state formation and explores the three major variants of the Ethiopian state since 1600 Gondar Shewa and Revolutionary It does this by employing the conceptual entry point of tributarism and teases out the implications of this perspective for refashioning the embattled postcolonial African political institutions The primary contribution of the book is the novel framing of state formation through the lens of a landed Afroasiatic peasantry in giving rise to a fragile state whose redistributive preoccupation preempted the emergence of a productive economy to serve as a buoyant revenue base Unlike feudal Europe the dependence of the Afroasian state on arm s length overlordship rather than on tightly managed landlordship incentivized endemic extractive contests among elites with the capacity for violence for the non fixed tribute from independent wealth producers Tributarism I argue here stymied the transition from a resilient statehood to a robust nation statehood that befits an open order society This book will be of interest to scholars in economics political science political economics and African Studies Berhanu Abegaz is Professor of Economics College of William Mary USA

Utopia, Ideology and/or Everyday Education Practice Wiktor Żłobicki, 2019-01-01 The collection of texts by scholars of the Department of General Pedagogy at the University of Wrocław is on the one hand an expression of the contemporary approach to general pedagogy as a reflection on multidisciplinary upbringing mainly of philosophical sociological and psychological nature and on the other hand a reference to the name of pedagogy and its Greek source of the concept of paidagogos which describes a slave in ancient Greece who led the sons of free citizens to a place of physical exercise and games

Changing Notions of Citizenship Education in Contemporary Nation-states, 2007-01-01 This book offers an examination into the meanings of citizenship in the contemporary world and trends that are forcing a rethinking of the concept in today s nation states These changing meanings in turn give rise to new understandings of and approaches to citizenship education The underlying values of participation deliberation and loyalty or patriotism that define different notions of citizenship are under strain in a world increasingly defined by global processes by the rise of transnational or supranational institutions and by interconnections that bring different cultures and value systems into closer contact with each other What does this new citizen look like What does this new citizen need to know or need to be able to do To whom and to what is this new citizen loyal One way to think about this new citizen is as a cosmopolitan a citizen of the world more than of any particular nation state another way to think about it is in terms of different kinds or levels of affiliation existing simultaneously to nation and to regional alliance such as the European Union for example These conditions of citizenship and of citizenship education are rapidly changing and diverse and in some instances they come into conflict This collection of essays an outstanding international group of scholars examines the tensions between national transnational and postnational conceptions of citizenship brought back always to the grounded question of citizenship education and how to go about it The authors illuminate the complexity and subtlety of these issues and offer helpful guidance for rethinking the meanings and values that inform our educational endeavours

Political Culture and Constitutionalism Daniel P. Franklin, Michael J. Baun, 1995 Contributors discuss the societal factors necessary for building a democratic state Essays address subjects such as political culture and constitutionalism in Britain and America constitutionalism in remade democracies such as Japan and Germany and constitutionalism and modernization in the semiperiphery and in post colonial states Paper edition unseen 20 00 Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

History Education and International Relations Hirano Mutsumi, 2009-02-12 This is the first in depth study to examine the implications of history education in the context of international relations interstate and transnational focusing on Japanese textbooks as the principal case study The author argues that despite a widespread recognition that our grasp of history has some relevance to our views and attitudes towards foreign countries and peoples ergo ultimately its impact on national policy there appears to be little coherent discussion of such a significant topic and its practical applications in the field of International Relations This study therefore develops a conceptual framework and directs attention to the factors which predetermine the perceptions and attitudes of the public and policy makers and in doing so searches for the roots of their world view The book addresses the following issues Government Influence on the Domestic Educational Environment The Domestic Environment and its Interaction with the External Environment History Education in Practice A case of Japan The Japanese History Textbook Disputes in the Asian Context Parts I and II Twenty five Years On The Task of Coming to Terms with the Past

Fatherlands Abigail Green, 2001-09-06 An exploration of the nature of identity in nineteenth century Germany

Polyculturalism and Discourse, 2007-01-01 This volume gathers together research by ten scholars engaging with multicultural discourse in Australia and Germany The term polyculturalism rather than multiculturalism is employed deliberately to re open a space in which the workings of discourse on culturally diverse societies both as archive or practice and as intervention can be considered in greater depth The inter cultural perspective and wide range of disciplinary affiliations exhibited by the essays in this volume contribute to this goal whereas the majority of discourse analytical work addresses the diversity of speaking positions as well as the arbitrariness of ascribed meanings within a historical framework delimited by national boundaries and disciplinary boundaries the texts collected here transgress this perspective in working comparatively between Australia and Germany
