Literature, Nationalism, and Memory in Early Modern England and Wales Philip Schwyzer, 2004-10-21 The Tudor era has long been associated with the rise of nationalism in England yet nationalist writing in this period often involved the denigration and outright denial of Englishness Philip Schwyzer argues that the ancient insular and imperial nation imagined in the works of writers such as Shakespeare and Spenser was not England but Britain Disclaiming their Anglo Saxon ancestry the English sought their origins in a nostalgic vision of British antiquity Focusing on texts including The Faerie Queene English and Welsh antiquarian works The Mirror for Magistrates Henry V and King Lear Schwyzer charts the genesis development and disintegration of British nationalism in the sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries An important contribution to the expanding scholarship on early modern Britishness this study gives detailed attention to Welsh texts and traditions arguing that Welsh sources crucially influenced the development of English literature and identity

Genres of Transition: Literature and Economy in Portuguese-Speaking Southern Africa Thomas Waller, 2024-07-22 This book argues that literary production in Portuguese speaking southern Africa has developed distinctive aesthetic idioms that critically respond to crises of global capitalism and related failures of post colonial governance Drawing from recent research at the intersection of world systems analysis and materialist theories of world literature it identifies and evaluates two generic trends in the post independence literatures of Mozambique and Angola From the mid 1980s to the early 1990s there is a marked tendency in Mozambican literary production towards fictional representations of ghosts spectral effects and gothic narrative techniques In Angola there is an analogous outburst of literary expression from the mid 1990s onwards in which writers increasingly turn towards dystopian images of apocalypse ecological crisis and the disintegration of existing modes of social reproduction Away from a restricted focus on the decline of the post independence Marxist Leninist state the book contends that the upswing in these two genres of writing functions to critically register a world systemic horizon that both surpasses and includes locally determined national realities The patterned repetition of spectral and dystopian forms in Portuguese speaking southern Africa occurred at a time of heightened capitalisation in which the region was subjected to newly expropriative forms of accumulation and ecological enclosure via integration into a reconstellated world system headed by neoliberal finance capital Through close readings of texts by authors such as Mia Couto Suleiman Cassamo Ungulani Ba Ka Khosa Pepetela and Ondjaki this book asks What factors drove literary production towards the figure of the spectre in Mozambique and towards dystopia in Angola What emerging energies and social contradictions found shape in these generic idioms in ways that existing vocabularies were unable to express What does the geo temporal passage from spectrality to dystopia tell us about the history of capitalist development in southern Africa and about the restructuring of political economic parameters across the globe Phantom Fortune, a Novel M. E. A. Cuddon, 2012-11-07 With new entries and sensitive edits this fifth edition places J A Cuddon s indispensable dictionary firmly in the 21st Century Written in a clear and highly readable style Comprehensive historical coverage extending from ancient times to the present day Broad intellectual and cultural range Expands on the previous edition to incorporate the most recent literary terminology New material is particularly focused in areas such as gender studies and queer theory post colonial theory post structuralism post modernism narrative theory and cultural studies Existing entries have been edited to ensure that topics receive balanced treatment Pathologizing Black Bodies Constante González Groba, Ewa Barbara Luczak, Urszula Niewiadomska-Flis, 2023-05-18 Pathologizing Black Bodies reconsiders the black body as a site of cultural and corporeal interchange one involving violence and oppression leaving memory and trauma sedimented in cultural conventions political arrangements social institutions and most significantly materially and symbolically engraved upon the body with the self often deprived of agency and sovereignty Consisting of three parts this study focuses on works of the twentieth and twenty first century fiction and cultural narratives by mainly African American authors aiming to highlight the different ways in which race has been pathologized in America and examine how the legacies of plantation ideology have been metaphorically inscribed on black bodies The variety of analytical approaches and thematic foci with respect to theories and discourses surrounding race and the body allow us to delve into this thorny territory in the hope of gaining perspectives about how African American lives are still shaped and haunted by the legacies of plantation slavery Furthermore this volume offers insights into the politics of eugenic corporeality in an illustrative dialogue with the lasting carceral and agricultural effects of life on a plantation Tracing the degradation and suppression of the black body both individual and social this study includes an analysis of the pseudo scientific discourse of social Darwinism and eugenics the practice of mass incarceration and the excessive punishment of black bodies and food apartheid and USDA practices of depriving black farmers of individual autonomy and collective agency Based on such an interplay of discourses methodologies and perspectives this volume aims to use literature to further examine the problematic relationship between race and the body and stress that black lives do indeed matter in the United States
