Guide to Making Wine Howard Price, 2017-12-13 Wine can be an intimidating subject to tackle While there are many subtleties differences and unique qualities of wine there are some general and simple characteristics too All wine is made from the fermented juice of grapes The process of fermentation is the breakdown of sugar into carbon dioxide CO₂ and alcohol Sugar is a natural ingredient found in all grapes Yeast the catalyst of turning sugar into alcohol is a natural substance already held in the skin of grapes Below is a general overview of the three main types of wine and the winemaking process Red Wine Red grapes are collected in vineyards and put into a crushing machine that removes all of the grape stems In addition to stem removal the crushing process also brings out in the wine the color from the skins Depending on the degree of dryness for the wine fermentation is continued to turn the preferred amount of sugar into alcohol The average amount of alcohol this process produces is 13 15% Fermentation is stopped before all the sugar is used up to make a sweeter wine Alcohol is then added to the sweetened wine to give it its 13 15% alcohol content Dry red wine is created when all of the sugars in the grape pulp are fermented The wine is then placed in wooden barrels for aging French oak is one of the more traditional and popular storage units for dry red wine White Wine The process for white wine is very similar to that of red but with a few key differences White and red grapes are both fed into the crushing machines to remove the stems breaks free the grape pulp For white wine the crushing machine then removes the colored skins After this similarly to red wine dry white wine is allowed to naturally ferment while sweet white wine has unfermented sugars left in the liquid and alcohol added White wine is stored and aged in stainless steel as opposed to oak barrels and is served chilled Champagne True champagne can only be produced from grapes grown in the Champagne region of France The hallmark difference in champagne is that there is a second fermentation process that takes place in the bottle The grape harvesting and crushing process are similar to that of red and white wine These are some of the simplified aspects of wine and wine making To make different types of wine requires specific grapes such as the white grape of chardonnay pinot grigio riesling or the red grape of cabernet pinot noir or Norton It is the growing harvesting and aging process that differentiates the quality and cost of the wines statement for an author to make but I would like you to look at this book not in terms of precise recipes you can make at home but more as a book of concepts and ideas that will enable you to explore and create with your own local ingredients. The fun is really in dreaming up and brewing your own delicious drinks so look at the techniques described here and see what you can come up with. If there is an overall message I want to convey it is that brewing is fun, adventurous and extremely rewarding. Don't be afraid to experiment. You might make a few mistakes here and there mostly in the beginning but those will be dwarfed by the countless yummy drinks you'll create and be successful at making. Hopefully the basic procedures in this book will help and I can't wait to hear about the delicious beverages you'll make with the plants surrounding you. If you already have experience in making beers you may find some of the methods described here a bit primitive and unusual: the use of molasses and other sources of sugar including insect honeydew instead of malt; wild yeast extraction from local fruits, flowers and plants; unusual bitter wild plants instead of regular hops; and the overall lack of grains. I hope this book will nevertheless inspire you to explore your own terroir and possibly integrate some local flavors into your brews. The most important message from this book is really: Explore, have fun and create. That's the stuff life should be made of.
