State Capitalism Joshua Kurlantzick, 2016-03-08 The end of the Cold War ushered in an age of American triumphalism best characterized by the Washington Consensus the idea that free markets democratic institutions limitations on government involvement in the economy and the rule of law were the foundations of prosperity and stability The last fifteen years starting with the Asian financial crisis have seen the gradual erosion of that consensus Many commentators have pointed to the emergence of a powerful new rival model state capitalism In state capitalist regimes the government typically owns firms in strategic industries Not beholden to private sector shareholders such firms are allowed to operate with razor thin margins if the state deems them strategically important China soon to be the world s largest economy is the best known state capitalist regime but it is hardly the only one In State Capitalism Joshua Kurlantzick ranges across the world China Thailand Brazil Russia South Africa Turkey and more and argues that the increase in state capitalism across the globe has on balance contributed to a decline in democracy He isolates some of the reasons for state capitalism s resurgence the fact that globalization favors economies of scale in the most critical industries and the widespread rejection of the Washington Consensus in the face of the problems that have plagued the world economy in recent years That said a number of democratic nations have embraced state capitalism and in those regimes state backed firms like Brazil s Embraer have enjoyed considerable success Kurlantzick highlights the mixed record and the evolving nature of the model yet he is more concerned about the negative effects of state capitalism When states control firms whether in democratic or authoritarian regimes the government increases its advantage over the rest of society The combination of new technologies the perceived failures of liberal economics and democracy in many developing nations the rise of modern kinds of authoritarians and the success of some of the best known state capitalists have created an era ripe for state intervention State Capitalism offers the sharpest analysis yet of what state capitalism s emergence means for democratic politics around the world

EU Competition Law, Data Protection and Online Platforms: Data as Essential Facility Inge Graef,2016-10-17 All are agreed that the digital economy contributes to a dynamic evolution of markets and competition Nonetheless concerns are increasingly raised about the market dominance of a few key players Because these companies hold the power to drive rivals out of business regulators have begun to seek scope for competition enforcement in cases where companies claim that withholding data is needed to satisfy customers and cut costs This book is the first focus on how competition law enforcement tools can be applied to refusals of dominant firms to give access data on online platforms such as search engines social networks and e commerce platforms commonly referred to as the gatekeepers of the Internet The question arises whether the denial of a dominant firm to grant competitors access to its data could constitute a refusal to deal and lead to competition law liability under the so called essential facilities doctrine according to which firms need access to shared knowledge in order to be able to compete A possible duty to share data with rivals also brings to the forefront the interaction of competition law with data protection legislation considering that the required information may include personal data of individuals Building on the refusal to deal concept and using a multidisciplinary approach the analysis covers such issues and topics as the following data portability interoperability data as a competitive advantage or entry barrier in digital markets market definition and dominance with respect to data disruptive versus sustaining innovation role of intellectual property regimes economic trade off in essential facilities cases relationship of competition enforcement with data protection law and data related competition concerns in merger cases The author draws on a wealth of relevant material including EU and US decision making practice case law and policy documents as well as economic and empirical literature on the link between competition and innovation The book concludes with a proposed framework for the application of the essential facilities doctrine to potential forms of abuse of dominance relating to data In addition it makes suggestions as to how data protection interests can be integrated into competition policy An invaluable contribution to ongoing academic and policy discussions about how data related competition concerns should be addressed under competition law the analysis clearly demonstrates how existing competition tools for market definition and assessment of dominance can be applied to online platforms It will be of immeasurable value to the many jurists business persons and academics concerned with this very timely subject

Legal and Ethical Standards in Corporate Insolvency Elizabeth Streten, 2024-06-17

Recent financial crisis and the global financial impacts of the COVID 19 pandemic have brought renewed interest to the regulation and practice of corporate insolvency and restructuring. Modernisation of the insolvency profession and the regulation of its practitioners is a contemporary concern and recent years have seen significant reforms of insolvency law. The success of such reforms can be enhanced through a clear understanding of difficulties faced by the insolvency profession in achieving successful restructuring and insolvency outcomes and through the determination of effective solutions to those difficulties. However, there is limited empirical data to inform the day to day practice of insolvency nor the difficulties experienced by insolvency practitioners in pursuing insolvency and restructuring solutions. This book addresses this absence of data and understanding, examining the role and practice of corporate insolvency practitioners and exploring the challenges that they encounter. Offering an empirical study together with a comparative analysis of the experiences of practitioners around the world, this book facilitates a greater understanding of corporate insolvency practice, confronting a misunderstanding of and under confidence in corporate insolvency practitioners, making it key reading for academics, practitioners and regulators working in the area of corporate insolvency.
