Sindbad the Sailor, and Other Stories from the Arabian Nights Dulac Edmund, 2021-06 The tales of Sinbad are a relatively late addition to the One Thousand and One Nights they do not feature in the earliest 14th century manuscript and they appear as an independent cycle in 17th and 18th century collections The tale reflects the trend within the Abbasid realm of Arab and Muslim sailors exploring the world The stories display the folk and themes present in works of that time The Abbasid reign was known as a period of great economic and social growth Arab and Muslim traders would seek new trading routes and people to trade with This process of growth is reflected in the Sinbad tales The Sinbad stories take on a variety of different themes Later sources include Abbasid works such the Wonders of the Created World reflecting the experiences of 13th century Arab mariners who braved the Indian Ocean
