

UC Essay

What do you want UC to know about you? Here's your chance to tell us in your own words.

Directions

- You will have 8 questions to choose from. You must respond to only 4 of the 8 questions.
- Each response is limited to a maximum of 350 words.
- Which questions you choose to answer is entirely up to you. But you should select questions that are most relevant to your experience and that best reflect your individual circumstances.

Keep in mind

- All questions are equal: All are given equal consideration in the application review process, which means there is no advantage or disadvantage to choosing certain questions over others.
- There is no right or wrong way to answer these questions: It's about getting to know your personality, background, interests and achievements in your own unique voice.

Questions & guidance

Remember, the personal questions are just that — personal. Which means you should use our guidance for each question just as a suggestion in case you need help. The important thing is expressing who are you, what matters to you and what you want to share with UC.

1. Describe an example of your leadership experience in which you have positively influenced others, helped resolve disputes, or contributed to group efforts over time.

Things to consider: A leadership role can mean more than just a title. It can mean being a mentor to others, acting as the person in charge of a specific task, or a taking lead role in organizing an event or project. Think about your accomplishments and what you learned from the experience. What were your responsibilities?

Did you lead a team? How did your experience change your perspective on leading others? Did you help to resolve an important dispute at your school, church in your community or an organization? And your leadership role doesn't necessarily have to be limited to school activities. For example, do you help out or take care of your family?

Assessing Writing to Support Learning Sandra Murphy, Peggy O'Neill, 2022-11-08 In this book authors Murphy and O'Neill propose a new way forward moving away from high stakes test based writing assessment and the curriculum it generates and toward an approach to assessment that centers on student learning and success Reviewing the landscape of writing assessment and existing research based theories on writing the authors demonstrate how a test based approach to accountability and current practices have undermined effective teaching and learning of writing This book bridges the gap between real world writing that takes place in schools college and careers and the writing that students are asked to do in standardized writing assessments to offer a new ecological approach to writing assessment Murphy and O'Neill's new way forward turns accountability inside out to help teachers understand the role of formative assessments and assessment as inquiry It also brings the outside in by bridging the gap between authentic writing and writing assessment Through these two strands readers learn how assessment systems can be restructured to become better aligned with contemporary understandings of writing and with best practices in teaching With examples of assessments from elementary school through college chapters include guidance on designing assessments to address multiple kinds of writing integrate reading with writing and incorporate digital technology and multimodality Emphasizing the central role that teachers play in systemic reform the authors offer sample assessments developed with intensive teacher involvement that support learning and provide information for the evaluation of programs and schools This book is an essential resource for graduate students instructors scholars and policymakers in writing assessment composition and English education

The Golden Ticket Irena Smith, 2025-07-30 What do we as parents really mean when we say we want the best for our children Irena Smith tackles this question from a unique vantage point as a former Stanford admissions officer a private Palo Alto college counselor and a mother of three children who struggle to find their place in the long shadow of Stanford University Written as a series of responses to actual college essay prompts this witty raw memoir takes the reader from the smoke-filled lobby of the Hebrew Aid Society in Rome where Irena and her parents await asylum with other Soviet refugees in 1977 to the overpriced house she and her husband buy in Palo Alto in 1999 to the hushed inner sanctum of the Stanford admissions office Irena grows a successful college counseling practice but struggles to reconcile the lofty aspirations of tightly wound competitive high school seniors and their anxious parents with her own attempts to keep her family from unraveling as one by one her children are diagnosed with autism learning differences depression and anxiety And although she doesn't initially understand her children or how to help them she will not stop stumbling and learning until she figures it out The Golden Ticket opens a much needed conversation about extreme parenting the weight of generational expectations and what happens when Gen X dreams meet unexpected realities It's a sharp-eyed depiction of hard-won triumphs and of the messy challenging parts of parenting you won't see on Facebook or Instagram Above all it's an invitation to embrace a broader more generous definition of success
