Un Report Claims Iran Testing Nuclear Bomb:

The American Rhetorical Construction of the Iranian Nuclear Threat Jason Jones, 2011-08-04 Axis of Evil and Rogue States Glen Segell, 2005 The legendary spy thriller from bestselling author Robert Littell whose newest book The Company is receiving rave reviews and acclaim is finally back in print Fans reviewers and booksellers will cheer This first novel originally published in 1973 established Littell as a master and immediately elevated him to the ranks of John le Carr Len Deighton and Graham Greene The Defection of A J Lewinter is a masterpiece of irony and intrigue an unconventional and gripping anatomy of a defection A J Lewinter is an American scientist for years an insignificant cog in America's complex defense machinery While at an academic conference in Tokyo he contacts the KGB station chief and tells him he wants to defect He tantalizes the Russians with U S military secrets he claims to possess but is his defection genuine Neither the Russians nor the Americans are sure and Lewinter is swept up in a terrifying political chess match of deceit and treachery Each side struggles to anticipate its opponent's next move and the superpowers are locked in a deadly contest that exploits friendships destroys loyalties and manipulates human beings as expendable pawns Deft and dazzlingly plotted this is the book that introduced Robert Littell the opening shot of a brilliant career Iran's Strategic Weapons Programmes Gary Samore, 2013-08-06 The possibility that Iran will acquire a nuclear weapons capability poses a significant threat to the stability of the Middle East and a potential challenge to the long term viability of the nuclear non proliferation regime Since 2003 diplomatic efforts by the EU 3 United Kingdom France and Germany have succeeded in suspending the sensitive aspects of Iran's nuclear programme but prospects for reaching a permanent agreement with the Iranian government are uncertain If the EU 3 effort collapses a number of policy options will be given more serious consideration including sanctions containment regime change and military action This IISS Strategic Dossier on Iran's strategic weapons programmes provides an objective technical assessment of Iran's nuclear chemical and biological weapons capabilities as well as its ballistic missile programme The dossier evaluates what is known and what is not known about these capabilities and projects potential future developments In addition the dossier provides a history of democratic efforts over the last three decades to prevent Iran from acquiring a nuclear weapons capability and examines different options for current diplomatic efforts Each chapter has been written and reviewed by recognised international experts in their respective fields The IISS does not advocate any particular policy option for dealing with the Iranian nuclear issue The objective of Iran's Strategic Weapons Programmes A Net Assessment is to assess as accurately and dispassionately as possible Iran's capabilities and evaluate the pros and cons of different policy options in the order to foster a well informed policy debate Congressional Record United States. Congress, 2006 The Congressional Record is the official record of the proceedings and debates of the United States Congress It is published daily when Congress is in session The Congressional Record began publication in 1873 Debates for sessions prior to 1873 are recorded in The Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States 1789-1824 the Register of

Debates in Congress 1824 1837 and the Congressional Globe 1833 1873 Strengthening the Nuclear Nonproliferation Regime Paul Vorbeck Lettow, 2010 Nuclear technology has long been recognized as capable of both tremendous benefits and tremendous destruction With this in mind countries have devised international arrangements intended to promote peaceful nuclear applications while preventing the spread of materials equipment and technologies useful for producing nuclear weapons Today however it is clear that this global nonproliferation regime is falling short North Korea withdrew from the Nuclear Nonproliferation Treaty NPT in 2003 and has since tested two nuclear devices Iran while still a party to the NPT has developed the capacity to enrich significant amounts of uranium many believe it is seeking to build nuclear weapons or at least attain the ability to do so In addition there is the challenge of facilitating the expansion of nuclear energy something that could help reduce carbon emissions while preventing countries from using related technologies for military purposes Finally the prevalence of nuclear materials only intensifies the fear that terrorist groups could acquire them through theft or a deliberate transfer from a state Given these challenges it is fitting that nuclear issues are near the top of today's foreign policy agenda President Barack Obama organized a nuclear security summit in April to discuss ways to secure nuclear materials and reduce the threat of terrorism and NPT signatories will gather in May for the five yearly NPT review conference The United States and Russia have reached a successor agreement calling for further reductions in their nuclear arsenals And the United States and others continue to pursue both sanctions and negotiations with the aim of limiting Iran's nuclear capabilities In this Council Special Report Paul Lettow examines the shortcomings of the nonproliferation regime and proposes a comprehensive agenda to shore it up He first explores the challenges facing current arrangements chief among them the spread of enrichment and reprocessing technologies needed to produce fissile material Lettow then makes a variety of recommendations First he calls for tighter sanctions on Iran with the goal of dissuading it from continuing its nuclear advances and discouraging others from following Tehran's path To combat the spread of enrichment and reprocessing the report urges the United States to lead nuclear suppliers in developing a system that would allow the sale of relevant equipment and technology only to countries that meet demanding criteria As regards a potential multilateral nuclear fuel bank the report argues for limiting participation to states that have a strong nonproliferation record and agree not to make their own nuclear fuel Lettow further recommends a larger budget more authority and various policy changes for the International Atomic Energy Agency so that it can better detect dangerous violations of nonproliferation agreements Finally he urges a series of steps in the United Nations Security Council to punish violators and deal with countries that seek to withdraw from the NPT while in noncompliance with their obligations Strengthening the Nuclear Nonproliferation Regime provides an authoritative look at today's nuclear related concerns and what can be done to address them With its thoughtful analysis and comprehensive recommendations it makes a strong contribution on a subject of vital importance And given the challenges now testing the nonproliferation regime as well as the issue's prominence in the foreign policy debate the report
