State of the World's Cities 2008/9 Un-Habitat, 2012-05-04 Cities are perhaps one of humanity s most complex creations never finished never definitive They are like a journey that never ends Their evolution is determined by their ascent into greatness or their descent into decline They are the past the present and the future Cities contain both order and chaos In them reside beauty and ugliness virtue and vice They can bring out the best or the worst in humankind They are the physical manifestation of history and culture and incubators of innovation industry technology entrepreneurship and creativity Cities are the materialization of humanity's noblest ideas, ambitions and aspirations but when not planned or governed properly can be the repository of society's ills. Cities drive national economies by creating wealth, enhancing social development and providing employment but they can also be the breeding grounds for poverty, exclusion and environmental degradation. The 21st Century is the Century of the City. Half of humanity now lives in cities and within the next two decades 60 per cent of the world's people will reside in urban areas. How can city planners and policymakers harmonize the various interests, diversity and inherent contradictions within cities? What ingredients are needed to create harmony between the physical, social, environmental and cultural aspects of a city and the human beings that inhabit it? This report adopts the concept of Harmonious Cities as a theoretical framework in order to understand today's urban world and also as an operational tool to confront the most important challenges facing urban areas and their development processes. It recognizes that tolerance, diversity, social justice and good governance, all of which are inter-related, are as important to sustainable urban development as physical planning. It addresses national concerns by searching for solutions at the city level. For that purpose it focuses on three key areas: spatial or regional harmony which examines the main drivers of urban growth in the developing world and explores the spatial nuances of economic and social policies; social harmony which presents and analyzes new data on urban inequalities worldwide and describes the types of shelter deprivations experienced by slum dwellers in developing world regions; and environmental harmony which examines the role of cities in the climate change debate and the impact of global warming on the most vulnerable cities. The report also assesses the various intangible assets within cities that contribute to harmony such as cultural heritage, sense of place and memory and the complex set of social and symbolic relationships that give cities meaning. It argues that these intangible assets represent the soul of the city and are as important for harmonious urban development as tangible assets. Harmony within cities argues the report is both a journey and a destination. a focus on Ghana a country widely regarded as an island of good governance in the sub region The book illustrates how diverse groups experience urban governance differently and contextualizes how this experience has worsened social differentiation in cities This book will be of great interest to students teachers and researchers in development studies and highly relevant to anyone with an interest in urban studies geography political economy sociology and African studies

The Politics of National Languages in Postcolonial Senegal Ibrahim Diallo, 2010 Senegal claimed political independence from France in 1960 and Leopold Senghor became Senegal's first president Even though Senegal was no longer a French colony Senghor was determined to maintain the dominance of French culture and language in his country However pressure to give national languages more power and space which had already started during French occupation continued intensely after independence Senghor's political adversaries as well as teacher and student unions workers and various activist groups roundly criticized Senghor's government for the language and education programs he chose for the Senegalese people The issue of national languages thus became a major political issue in Senegal with a far reaching and longstanding impact This book is a comprehensive study on the current language policies and practices in Senegal It illuminates the tension that has arisen from the enduring colonial legacies and their influences in postcolonial language policies in Senegal It also highlights the need for vigorous policy change to recognize the Senegalese languages especially in education and how the preservation of these languages is critical to identity and culture issues The book shows that it is important for the Senegalese people to retain their original local languages and how French and English are not simply the only languages needed for Senegal's success in the globalized economy In addition to a detailed history with supporting facts and figures this study also links socioeconomic cultural and political events in its analysis of the unstoppable rise of Wolof which is posing a significant threat to the already fragile local linguistic ecology This book will be of interest to scholars in applied and social linguistics African studies and policy studies received the attention that this challenge deserves globally Much of the information and knowledge that was created in this field during the year was the result of the findings of the Fourth sessment Report AR4 of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC which were disseminated on a large scale and reported extensively by the media This was the result not only of a heightened interest on the part of the public on various aspects of climate change but also because the IPCC itself proactively attempted to spread the findings of its AR4 to the public at large The interest generated on the scientific
