

CAPSTONE PROJECT FINAL REPORT

1. Introduction

The aim of this capstone project is to create a tutoring assistant which will prove to be effective in helping discrete math students to practice permutation and combination exercises. For the assistant to provide the needed guidance to a student who is struggling, it is needed to take into consideration both mathematical problem that will be solved, as well as the solution that is proposed by the learner.

This tutoring assistant will use a problem generator designed to test the knowledge of the student. This generator is created by another student, Ahmed Fangli, for his capstone project. Fangli's problem generator offers my program with a complete set of exercises prepared into text files, together with a metadata that shows their structure, taking into consideration the agreed on mathematical model which is used commonly in both our projects. My system makes good use of a natural language processing technique in order to parse generated files and further extract the structure of the problems.

2. Steeple Analysis

This highly intelligent assistant for discrete math tutoring is actually a prototype which can be later on developed into a more advanced and widely accessible system which helps students in better understanding and practicing various mathematical concepts that they study in a similar manner in order to work with a human tutor. The software may even be extended to other Math fields, such as Probabilities, Calculus, Chemistry and Physics, etc.

The primarily societal impact of this tutoring assistant is to provide support to one of the 14 Grand Challenges of Engineering. This is defined by the National Engineering Academy, particularly personalized learning. This type of learning is a growing field of interest, especially in
