

Helping families cope with loved ones' needs

by Cathy Ann Drury

Many times we unexpectedly find ourselves in a situation where we are entrusted to care for our aging loved ones, whether due to illness or some other disabling problem, and we don't know where to turn.

This is where Florisa Zinghini, a Redding resident, and her business, Reddi-Care Connections, can help. A Geriatric Care Manager, Ms. Zinghini began her business three years ago.

Reddi-Care Connections offers a comprehensive assessment of the situation through meetings with family members.

At times, the family members are distraught and don't know the proper procedures and options available to protect the well being of their loved ones. And sometimes, the demands become so great that family members cannot provide the needed level of supervision.

This is where Reddi-Care Connections can help, guiding clients through the process step by step in determining best solutions. An evaluation based on physical, psychological, functional and safety concerns is done and then, based on those needs, recommendations are made.

A Geriatric Care Manager provides a personalized service for each client, focusing on individual needs. There is continuity of care management which leads to cost containment for families because there are no inappropriate placements, duplication of services and unnecessary hospitalizations are avoided.

Financial, medical and legal issues also arise and clients don't know where to turn, so Ms. Zinghini helps here as well.

Other circumstances that Reddi-Care Connections can handle is when loved ones live out of town. In this situation, especially, Reddi-Care Connections can recommend specialists to provide care.

Reddi-Care Connections takes many decisions and options into account, according to Ms. Zinghini's Web site. The younger family members need to decide things such as supervision of medical care, obtaining home care, placement in a nursing home or assisted living. Many people don't know what these entail or what facilities are even available.

Ms. Zinghini is able to counsel and support, offering assurance and giving clients peace of mind so they can make the best decisions possible for their loved ones.

Florisa Zinghini has worked in nursing homes and in both assisted and independent living communities for more than 25 years in both Connecticut and New York. She has a bachelor's degree in psychology and a master's in social work and is a licensed Clinical Social Worker. She is a member of the National Association of Social Work and National Association of Professional Geriatric Care Managers.

Ms. Zinghini lives in Redding with her husband Joe. They are active in the community and both enjoy biking and running. For more information, visit www.reddicareconnections.com or e-mail info@reddicareconnections.com.
