Self-Evaluation Paper

Giving four speeches in class and afterward observing them like an audience member has been a helpful and interesting experience. Messages that I felt would be delivered successfully ended up falling flat, while others that I worried over turned out positively at times. This has benefited me by allowing an assessment of the planning and preparation stages along with the execution and result. Entering the class, I felt that I was already a rather strong public speaker. Now I know more clearly the many areas on which a person can focus when honing this skill. I am also aware which of these areas I must improve upon to become a more effective public speaker.

I have had a number of opportunities in the past to get in front of people and speak. Usually it was related to work and involved the demonstration of a procedure or educating people on a subject. While this class did not introduce anything immediately unfamiliar to me (such as getting in front of a group and doing something worthwhile with everyone's time), the objectivity of speechmaking was very much a new idea for me. Along with this came learning many of the tools a speaker must employ when crafting a message that is to be received by an audience of individuals—also a new idea. In the past, I always felt confident in my ability to deliver a speech or give a demonstration effectively, but now I realize that I did not generally concern myself with the many speechmaking tools that have been brought up in this class. Technical Paper - Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences, 1978 Methods of Group Exercise Instruction Carol K. Armbruster, Mary M. Yoke, 2014-01-30 Formats modalities and trends in group exercise are constantly evolving Methods of Group Exercise Instruction Third Edition With Online Video explores the most common group exercise modalities enhancing readers marketability by giving them the skills to lead dynamic safe and effective classes This text highlights the commonalities of a variety of group exercise formats through training principles correction and progression techniques and safety tips to enhance the skills of both group exercise leaders and program directors. Methods of Group Exercise Instruction Third Edition moves from theory to practice in a logical progression. Rather than simply providing routines, this book helps instructors develop the core skills needed for creating routines, use proper cueing and adapt their teaching to new modalities. Teaching techniques convey appropriate training for each muscle group and methods for warm up, cardiorespiratory training, muscular conditioning, neuromotor training and flexibility. In addition, starter routines, modification strategies and instructor assessment criteria are presented for seven class formats: kickboxing, step training, stationary indoor cycling, sport conditioning and boot camp, water exercise, yoga and mat based Pilates. The text also touches on alternative modalities including dance based classes, fusion and mind/body training. Thoroughly revised and reorganized based on industry standards, the third edition of Methods of Group Exercise Instruction offers expanded content to help readers become better instructors. Updates to the third edition include the following: Online video totaling over 100 minutes demonstrates key content in the text. New chapters cover social aspects of group exercise, coaching based instructional models and neuromotor and functional training. Callout boxes highlight important topics, research findings, technique and safety checks and practice drills which facilitate quick learning. Short assignments at the close of each chapter encourage readers to look beyond the text to gain practical experience. Evaluation forms and evaluation key points allow instructors to gauge their teaching success and adapt the key criteria of a successful class to each exercise modality. The three part structure of this book is retained from the previous edition but the content is reorganized to better reflect industry standards and guidelines. Part I provides a general overview of group exercise, the evolution and advantages of group exercise, the strategies for creating group cohesion in a class, the core concepts in class design and the use of music, choreography and cueing methods in designing and leading a class. Part II offers guidelines for leading the four major segments of a group exercise class: warm up, cardiorespiratory training, muscular conditioning and flexibility training, and includes a new chapter on neuromotor and functional training. These basic concepts pertain to all modalities covered in part III which focuses on practical teaching skills. Basic moves, choreography and training systems are covered for each type of class. Sample routines and class formats for each modality offer a confident starting point for novice instructors and fresh material for veterans. The final chapter discusses customized or hybrid classes such as lifestyle, physical activity based classes, equipment based cardio classes and mind and body classes. When used as a course text, Methods of Group Exercise Instruction Third Edition includes instructor ancillaries which offer suggestions for effective use of the book and online video, lesson plan outlines, a sample week by week syllabus, lab activities and test questions. The third edition also features a newly added image bank containing all the figures and photos from the text to use in presentations.

Nikolaus Kriegeskorte, Diana Deca, A scientific publication system needs to provide two basic services access and evaluation The traditional publication system restricts the access to papers by requiring payment and it restricts the evaluation of papers by relying on just 2-4 pre publication peer reviews and by keeping the reviews secret As a result the current system suffers from a lack of quality and transparency of the peer review evaluation process and the only immediately available indication of a new paper's quality is the prestige of the journal it appeared in Open access is now widely accepted as desirable and is slowly beginning to become a reality However the second essential element evaluation has received less attention Open evaluation an ongoing post publication process of transparent peer review and rating of papers promises to address the problems of the current system However it is unclear how exactly such a system should be designed The evaluation system steers the attention of the scientific community and thus the very course of science For better or worse the most visible papers determine the direction of each field and guide funding and public policy decisions Evaluation therefore is at the heart of the entire endeavor of science As the number of scientific publications explodes evaluation and selection will only gain importance A grand challenge of our time therefore is to design the future system by which we evaluate papers and decide which ones deserve broad attention So far scientists have left the design of the evaluation process to journals and publishing companies However the steering mechanism of science should be designed by scientists The cognitive computational and brain sciences are best prepared to take on this task which will involve social and psychological considerations software design and modeling of the network of scientific papers and their interrelationships This Research Topic in Frontiers in Computational Neuroscience collects visions for a future system of open evaluation Because critical arguments about the current system abound these papers will focus on constructive ideas and comprehensive designs for open evaluation systems Design decisions include Should the reviews and ratings be entirely transparent or should some aspects be kept secret Should other information such as paper downloads be included in the evaluation How can scientific objectivity be strengthened and political motivations weakened in the future system Should the system include signed and authenticated reviews and ratings Should the evaluation be an ongoing process such that promising papers are more deeply evaluated How can we bring science and statistics to the evaluation process e.g. should rating averages come with error bars How should the evaluative information about each paper e.g. peer ratings be combined to prioritize the literature Should different individuals and organizations be able to define their own evaluation formulae e.g. weighting ratings according to different criteria How can we efficiently transition toward the future system Ideally the future system will derive its authority from a scientific literature on community based open evaluation We hope that these papers will provide a starting point
