In his text, Michael Doyle draws upon three major factors which contribute to a liberal peacefulness: "constitutional, international or cosmopolitan sources." Democratic peace is the one in which aggressive interests of monarchies have been suppressed and individual interests of people are valued. Liberal states still have a certain desire for power; however, the benefits of peaceful coexistence between liberal states outweigh the benefits of war.

Firstly, according to Kant, the key factor is that a liberal republican state has to take into account the opinion of its citizens for whom a war would be disastrous. Consequently, the decision to start a war will be weighted with caution as the citizens will have to suffer such calamities as: "having to fight,... having painfully to repair the devastation war leaves behind...". In the case of non-liberal states the ruler who personally does not have to sacrifice anything as a result of war decides on starting a war or not, the decision to start a war is taken more easily. As a result, international policy of liberal states is characterized by caution.

Secondly, in terms of international law, liberal states recognize themselves as being just and are willing to cooperate with similar just states as a guarantee of mutual respect. As a result of free information exchange about the political life of foreign countries, liberal republics presume that foreign liberal states are also consensual, just and deserve accommodation. Liberal states recognize other liberal states as sharing similar political interests and, therefore, are willing to engage in respectful coexistence with one another.

Finally, the cosmopolitan law stresses the importance of commerce in the relationship between states. Countries are engaged in certain economic ties

Learning from Shanghai Charlene Tan, 2012-11-27 The Shanghai school system has attracted worldwide attention since its impressive performance in the Programme for International Student Assessment PISA in 2009 The system ranks as a stunning success according to standards of the Organisation for Economic Co operation and Development OECD Shanghai also stands out for having the world's highest percentage of resilient students students from socio economically disadvantaged backgrounds who emerge as top performers Learning From Shanghai Lessons on Educational Success offers a close up view of the people and the policies that have achieved such world class performance Based on research and personal observation gathered during the author's recent field work with school principals teachers and students this book explores the factors that explain Shanghai's exceptional success in education The approach combines high standards of scholarly research and analysis with the author's unique personal insights as evidenced by chapters entitled Education is Filling a Bucket and Lighting a Fire and Tiger Mothers Dragon Children Drawing on her experience as an education professional and a teacher of teachers Charlene Tan thoroughly examines and analyzes the people the policies and the practices that distinguish Shanghai educators The contents include comprehensive details on the Shanghai approach to quality education from discussion of the balance between centralization and decentralization to school autonomy and accountability to testing policy and professional development for teachers The book includes detailed tables on curriculum and school performance targets sample appraisal forms for teachers and students and dozens of photographs The author is an Associate Professor at the National Institute of Education Nanyang Technological University Singapore

Resources in Education, 1999-04 Writing the Classroom Stephen E. Neaderhiser, 2022-11-21 Writing the Classroom explores how faculty compose and use pedagogical documents to establish classroom expectations and teaching practices as well as to articulate the professional identities they perform both inside and outside the classroom The contributors to this unique collection employ a wide range of methodological frameworks to demonstrate how pedagogical genres even ones as seemingly straightforward as the class syllabus have lives extending well beyond the classroom as they become part of how college teachers represent their own academic identities advocate for pedagogical values and negotiate the many external forces that influence the act of teaching Writing the Classroom shines a light on genres that are often treated as two dimensional with purely functional purposes arguing instead that genres like assignment prompts course proposals teaching statements and policy documents play a fundamental role in constructing the classroom and the broader pedagogical enterprise within academia Writing the Classroom calls on experienced teachers and faculty administrators to critically consider their own engagement with pedagogical genres and offers graduate students and newer faculty insight into the genres that they may only now be learning to inhabit as they seek to establish their personal teacherly identities It showcases the rhetorical complexity of the genres written in the service of pedagogy not only for students but also for the many other audiences within academia that have a role in shaping the experience of teaching Contributors Michael Albright Lora Arduser Lesley Erin Bartlett Logan Bearden Lindsay Clark Dana Comi Zack K De Piero Matt Dowell Amy Ferdinandt Stolley Mark A Hannah Megan Knight Laura R Micciche Cindy Mooty Dustin Morris Kate Navickas Kate Nesbit Jim Nugent Lori A Ostergaard Cynthia Pengilly Jessica Rivera Mueller Christina Saidy Megan Schoen Virginia Schwarz Christopher Toth

Operations Management Andrew Greasley, 2007-12-12 The SAGE Course Companion on Operations Management is an accessible introduction to the subject that will help readers to extend their understanding of key concepts and enhance their thinking skills in line with course requirements It provides support on how to revise for exams and prepare for and write assessed pieces Readers are encouraged not only to think like an operations manager but also to think about the subject critically
