Active Learning in College Science Joel J. Mintzes, Emily M. Walter, 2020-02-23 This book explores evidence based practice in college science teaching It is grounded in disciplinary education research by practicing scientists who have chosen to take Wieman's 2014 challenge seriously and to investigate claims about the efficacy of alternative strategies in college science teaching In editing this book we have chosen to showcase outstanding cases of

exemplary practice supported by solid evidence and to include practitioners who offer models of teaching and learning that meet the high standards of the scientific disciplines Our intention is to let these distinguished scientists speak for themselves and to offer authentic guidance to those who seek models of excellence Our primary audience consists of the thousands of dedicated faculty and graduate students who teach undergraduate science at community and technical colleges 4 year liberal arts institutions comprehensive regional campuses and flagship research universities In keeping with Wieman s challenge our primary focus has been on identifying classroom practices that encourage and support meaningful learning and conceptual understanding in the natural sciences The content is structured as follows after an Introduction based on Constructivist Learning Theory Section I the practices we explore are Eliciting Ideas and Encouraging Reflection Section II Using Clickers to Engage Students Section III Supporting Peer Interaction through Small Group Activities Section IV Restructuring Curriculum and Instruction Section V Rethinking the Physical Environment Section VI Enhancing Understanding with Technology Section VII and Assessing Understanding Section VIII The book s final section IX is devoted to Professional Issues facing college and university faculty who choose to adopt active learning in their courses The common feature underlying all of the strategies described in this book is their emphasis on actively engaging students who seek to make sense of natural objects and events Many of the strategies we highlight emerge from a constructivist view of learning that has gained widespread acceptance in recent years In this view learners make sense of the world by forging connections between new ideas and those that are part of their existing knowledge base For most students that knowledge base is riddled with a host of na ve notions misconceptions and alternative conceptions they have acquired throughout their lives To a considerable extent the job of the teacher is to coax out these ideas to help students understand how their ideas differ from the scientifically accepted view to assist as students restructure and reconcile their newly acquired knowledge and to provide opportunities for students to evaluate what they have learned and apply it in novel circumstances Clearly this prescription demands far more than most college and university scientists have been prepared for

Born to Choose John H Falk,2017-09-05 Born to Choose is John H Falk s compelling account of why and how we make the endless set of choices we do every second of every day of our lives Synthesizing research from across the biological and social sciences Falk argues that human choice making is an evolutionarily ancient and complex process He suggests that all our choices are influenced by very basic and early evolving needs and that ultimately each choice is designed to support survival in the guise of perceived well being This engaging book breaks new intellectual ground and enhances our understanding not just of human choice making but human behavior overall The Psychology of Study Success in Universities Kaarina Maatta, Satu Uusiautti, 2017-07-20 Universities around the world are under increasing pressure to maintain high levels of graduation and to make study processes as efficient as possible with teachers and students struggling to meet the expectations placed upon them as a result The Psychology of Study Success in Universities asks whether it is possible to meet these demands at the same time as protecting the well being of students Drawing on an extensive and detailed analysis of study success in universities in Finland the authors of this thought provoking work argue that universities should be more concerned with students satisfaction and place greater weight on students perceptions of the elements that enhance or hinder their success The book provides a multi dimensional picture of the student related and teaching related factors that promote study success Giving voice to graduate students including those enrolled on a PhD the authors look at the resources that students have at their disposal in order to establish what inspires and motivates the students what slows them down and what kinds of experiences students have of successful studies M tt and Uusiautti present a wealth of high quality research showing that good teaching and successful study processes can be secured by immediate and caring interaction flexible and student centred teaching and supervision and interdisciplinary collaboration between teachers The Psychology of Study Success in Universities is essential reading for academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of education and psychology as well as for those interested in positive psychology student well being and pedagogical studies Making the Right Choice Asha L. Abeyasekera, 2021-03-12 Making the Right Choice unravels the entangled relationship between marriage morality and the desire for modernity as it plays out in the context of middle class status concerns and aspirations for upward social mobility within the Sinhala Buddhist community in urban Sri Lanka By focusing on individual life histories spanning three generations the book illuminates how narratives about a gendered self and narratives about modernity are mutually constituted and intrinsically tied to notions of agency The book uncovers how becoming modern in urban Sri Lanka rather than causing inter generational conflict is a collective aspiration realized through the efforts of bringing up educated and independent women capable of making right choices The consequence of this collective investment is a feminist conundrum agency does not denote the right to choose but the duty to make the right choice hence agency is experienced not as a sense of freedom but rather as a burden of responsibility
