Ain't Nothing Like Freedom Cynthia McKinney, 2013-03-26 Elected six times to the House from the state of Georgia Cynthia McKinney cut a trail through Congressional deceit like a hot ember through ash She discovered legislators who passed laws without reading them Party leaders who colluded across party lines against their constituents interests Black skinned individuals shilling for the white status quo She excoriated government lassitude over Hurricane Katrina uncovering dark secrets She held the only critical Congressional briefing on 9 11 introducing counter testimony of scholars investigators former intelligence agents As a member of the House Armed Services Committee she held Rumsfeld to account for malfeasance by military contractors and missing billions in the Pentagon's budget. Then she hammered him on the reasons for the failure of NORAD air defenses on 9/11. She read truth into the Congressional Record, held town halls and hearings, led protests, showed up while others played along to get along, took the side of the people against the will of the Party. And when she got too truth seeking and speaking, the Republicans rigged the Democratic primaries to boot her out, leaving behind a trail of achievements mostly won singlehandedly as a result of her service on the House International Relations, House Agriculture, House Armed Services, and Budget Committees, and the Select Committee on Hurricanes Katrina and Rita. But McKinney rose again like a Phoenix, answering the call to run as 2008 Green Party candidate for President, challenging the corrupt two-party stranglehold on American democracy. Then it was on to the Freedom Flotilla to Gaza, to be seized on the high seas and imprisoned in Israel. On to Tripoli to serve as witness to the NATO terror bombing of Libya. On to Malaysia to serve on the War Crimes Commission. Often introduced as the Sojourner Truth, the Harriet Tubman of our age, McKinney reflects here on the Biblical figures of Esther, Deborah, and Naomi. This is the Cynthia McKinney saga as it stands to date: what she saw, what she learned, and how she fought for change.

Gender and Rhetorical Space in American Life, 1866-1910 Nan Johnson, 2002. Nan Johnson demonstrates that after the Civil War, nonacademic or parlor traditions of rhetorical performance helped to sustain the icon of the white middle-class woman as queen of her domestic sphere by promoting a code of rhetorical behavior for women that required the performance of conventional femininity. Through a lucid examination of the boundaries of that gendered rhetorical space and the debate about who should occupy that space, Johnson explores the codes governing and challenging the American woman's proper rhetorical sphere in the postbellum years. While men were learning to preach, practice law, and set political policies, women were reading elocution manuals, letter writing handbooks, and other conduct literature. These texts reinforced the conservative message that women's words mattered, but mattered mostly in the home. Postbellum pedagogical materials were designed to educate Americans in rhetorical skills, but they also persistently directed the American woman to the domestic sphere as her proper rhetorical space. Even though these materials appeared to urge the white middle-class women to become effective speakers and writers, convention dictated that a woman's place was at the hearthside where her rhetorical talents were to be used in counseling and instructing as a mother and wife. Aided by twenty-one illustrations, Johnson has meticulously compiled materials from historical texts, no longer readily available to the general public and in so doing has illuminated this intersection of rhetoric and feminism in the nineteenth century. The rhetorical pedagogies designed for a postbellum popular audience represent the cultural sites where a rethinking of women's roles becomes open controversy about how to value their words. Johnson argues this era of uneasiness about shifting gender roles and the icon of the quiet woman must be considered as evidence of the need for a more complete revaluing of women's space in historical discourse.

Change a Life, Change your Own Peter

Ove, 2018-06-11T00:00:00Z. Change a Life Change Your Own is a long overdue adult discussion about how child sponsorship, a spectacularly successful fundraising tool, infantilizes both donor and recipient, turning good intentions into paternalism and reinforcing stereotypical Western ideas about helplessness and hopelessness in developing countries. Ian Smillie, author of The Charity of Nations: Freedom from Want and Diamonds, Change a Life Change Your Own. For less than a dollar a day. For the cost of one coffee a day. With these slogans and their accompanying images of poor children, some of the world's largest development organizations invite the global North to engage in one of their most prominent and successful fundraising techniques: child sponsorship. But as Peter Ove argues in Change a Life Change Your Own, child sponsorship is successful not because it addresses the needs of poor children, but because it helps position what it means to live ethically in an unequal and unjust world. In this way, child sponsorship is seen as more than an effective marketing tool; it is a powerful mechanism for spreading particular ideas about the global South, the global North, and the relationship between the two. Through sponsorship, the desire to raise money, secure appropriate childhoods, and become better people ends up taking priority over the goal of living together well on a global scale. Drawing on in-depth interviews with child sponsors and sponsorship staff, Change a Life Change Your Own explores the contexts in which sponsorship promotional material is produced, interpreted, and acted upon. This is not an exposé on the use of sponsorship dollars or high administrative costs; it is a clearly written and compelling account of how the problem of development is constructed such that child sponsorship is seen to be a rational and ethical solution.
