Standard of Care George J. Annas,1997 American law not philosophy or medicine is the major force shaping American bioethics This is both because law at its best fosters individual rights equality and justice and because violation of the legal duty or standard of care a physician owes a patient can lead to a malpractice suit The law has therefore had two conflicting impacts on medical ethics the positive effect of eroding paternalism and replacing it with a patient centered ethic and the negative effect of encouraging physicians to be more concerned with avoiding litigation than doing the right thing Standard of Care explores the fundamental value conflicts confronting medicine and society by examining courtroom resolutions of real bioethical disputes often of constitutional dimension This case based approach which ranges from abortion to euthanasia from AIDS to organ transplantation from genetic research to the artificial heart and rationing illuminates the value choices with which the power and impotence of medicine confronts us George Annas urges health care professionals to go beyond the minimalist legal standard of care by promoting a vigorous patient centered medical ethics based on respect for human rights and responsibility to both patients and society If modern medicine is to enhance human life a reconceptualization of law as the beginning of ethical discourse rather than as an instrument to end it is essential Such a discourse could enrich all our lives by helping us to articulate both a national and international agenda for human rights in health A Conception of Teaching Nathaniel L. Gage,2009-04-05 The literature of the behavioural and social sciences is full of theory and research on learning and memory Teaching is comparatively a stepchild neglected by those who have built a formidable body of theories of learning and memory However teaching is where learning and memory theory should pay off A Conception of Teaching dedicates a chapter to each of the following important components the need for a theory the possibility of a theory the evolution of a paradigm for the study of teaching a conception of the process of teaching a conception of the content of teaching a conception of students cognitive capabilities and motivations a conception of classroom management and the integration of these conceptions Written in a highly accessible style while maintaining a base in research Dr Nathaniel L Gage presents A Conception of Teaching with clarity and well situated within current educational debates
