World Bank Development Report 2004:

World Development Report 2006 World Bank, 2005-09-28 The World Development Report 2006 Equity and Opportunity presents a social development strategy organized around the themes of social inclusion cohesion and accountability It examines equality of opportunities a potentially important factor affecting both the workings of the investment environment and the empowerment of the poor by building on and extending existing accountability frameworks presented in the 2005 Report The Report is divided into three parts Part I describes patterns of inequality in a range of variables both at the national and global level incomes educational achievements health indicators power and influence Part II highlights reasons why some levels of inequality in the variables presented in Part I may be too high whether for intrinsic reasons or because they harm the attainment of competing values such as the level of goods and services in the economy Part III discusses policies that affect the relationship between equity and the development process at a national and global level This section includes policies that could help reduce the levels of some intermediate inequalities and focuses on circumstances in which these policies form the basis for more rapid overall development and faster poverty reduction Now in its twenty eighth edition the World Development Report offers practical insights for policymakers business developers economic advisers researchers and professionals in the media and in non governmental organizations It is also an essential supplement to economic and development courses in both academic and professional settings Global Monitoring Report 2004, 2004-01-01 References pp 217 228

Human Development Report 2004 United Nations Development Programme, 2004 This is the 15th report prepared by a team of independent experts which explores major development issues of global concern The 2004 report focuses on issues of cultural liberty and concludes that countries must actively devise multicultural policies to prevent cultural discrimination whether on grounds of religion ethnicity or language since the expansion of cultural freedoms is at the core of human development Rather than presenting a threat to state unity the report argues that diversity is the only sustainable option to promote stability and democracy within and across societies Issues discussed include confronting extremist movements for cultural domination myths surrounding cultural liberty and development the impact of globalisation on cultural choice social exclusion human rights and participation It also includes data tables for the Human Development Index HDI which measures key social and economic indicators for rich and poor countries including life expectancy health and sanitation employment rights gender equality education and income per person World in Transition 4 German Advisory Council On Global Change (Wbgu), 2013-09-13 At the start of the 21st century fighting poverty and protecting the environment are two of the most urgent challenges facing the international community Environmental changes will jeopardize people's survival to an even greater extent in the future and will hit the poor hardest To meet these challenges it will be essential to breathe new life into the partnership between industrialized and developing countries It will be equally essential to combine poverty reduction with environmental protection in an integrated policy structure spanning all levels from local to global In this report the German Advisory Council on Global Change WBGU shows that global environmental policy is a prerequisite for global poverty reduction WBGU analyses the relevant policy processes and delivers recommendations charting the way forward With its interdisciplinary approach providing a complex and systematic analysis of the poverty environment nexus WBGU s latest report breaks new ground Indira Gandhi s old convenient maxim was Poverty is the biggest polluter Put forward at the 1972 UN Conference on the Human Environment in Stockholm it has been sorely misused ever since to override environmental precaution and prioritize economic development strategies instead The new WBGU report maps out a way to shape a coherent environment and development policy This report revitalizes the Rio spirit and gives it a robust scientific base Prof Dr Ernst Ulrich von Weizsäcker Member of the German Bundestag MdB

Human Development Report 2005 United Nations Development Programme, 2005 The Human Development Report 2005 examines the scale of the challenge facing the world at the start of the ten year countdown to the 2015 Millennium Development Goals mark The Report focuses on three pillars of cooperation each of which is in urgent need of renovation The first pillar is international aid the Millennium Development Goals MDGs project has been compromised by chronic and sustained under financing allied to problems in aid quality The second pillar is international trade Under the right conditions trade can act as a powerful catalyst for human development The development round of World Trade Organization talks launched in 2001 provided northern governments with an opportunity to create those conditions The third pillar is that of security violent conflict is a source of systematic human rights violation and a barrier to progress towards the MDGs that must be overcome
