Visual Data, 2009-01-01 The visual inputs we receive can be collectively called visual data Precisely how one defines visual data is a key question to ask That is one of the questions we asked each author who wrote a chapter for this book If one comes to a decision with respect to what visual data are then the next question becomes What are visual data like Then What do they mean As with any data we can collect it and compile it but if we don't have some way to bring meaning it it has little value to us The answers may not be as straightforward as one might assume at the outset The extent to which visual data permeates what we do as educators is such that it may be difficult to identify every discipline in which it emerges In this book we have tried to provide a forum for authors from a cross section of common disciplines visual arts English literacy mathematics science social science and even higher education administration

Into Geography Patricia Harrison, Steve Harrison, Mike Pearson, 1993 Science Giants Alan Ticotsky, 2006 Offers opportunities to read and explore the important discoveries in Earth and space science Folens World Atlas Patricia Harrison, Steve Harrison, 1993-06 World Game Series: Document 1 R. Buckminster Fuller, The documents in this series originated with a proposal made by R Buckminster Fuller to the International Union of Architects I U

A at their VIIth Congress in London England in July 1961 launching the World Design Science Decade He proposed then that the architectural schools around the world be encouraged by the I U A to invest the next ten years in a continuing problem of how to make the total world s resources which in 1961 serve only 40% serve 100% of humanity through competent design despite a continuing decrease of metal resources per capita In essence The World Design Science Decade series of documents suggests in great detail ways in which world architectural schools and specifically their students should initiate and assume The Design Science Decade The total series includes many of Fuller s most prescient ideas A note from the series editor John McHale Though the language of some of the texts may seem difficult at first approach it should be borne in mind that one of our major problems in thinking today 1965 is the use of language systems which still represent a fixed structurally compartmentalized world view The terms available to us for the expression of dynamic rather than static concepts are far from satisfactory Fuller s language is particularly representative of the transitional state of the western world between the older traditional noun centered culture to its present day changing verb centered culture In his search for an adequately descriptive terminology he tends to employ concepts and usages from many different fields juxtaposed in ways which may be unfamiliar to those more customarily restrained within the vocabularies of particular disciplines Description by the Buckminster Fuller Institute courtesy of The Estate of R Buckminster Fuller
