Bua Sesotho Rampasane Solomon Chaphole, 2004 Curriculum and Reality in African Primary Schools Hubert William Richmond Hawes, 1979 Regulations and Syllabuses for the Junior Certificate Examination Examinations Council of Lesotho, 1982 Sesotho Language David Ambrose, 2006 Introduction to Lesotho Gilad James, PhD, Lesotho is a landlocked country located in southern Africa surrounded by South Africa. The country has a population of approximately 2.2 million people and is known for its mountainous terrain which has earned it the nickname 'The Kingdom in the Sky'. Lesotho is also known for being one of the highest altitude countries in the world with the lowest point in the country being 1 400 metres above sea level. The country's economy is largely based on agriculture with maize, sorghum and wheat being the main crops grown. Lesotho also has a growing textile industry which is largely supported by foreign investment. Despite the country's natural beauty and resources, Lesotho faces a number of challenges including high levels of poverty and HIV/AIDS which is one of the highest rates in the world. The government has made significant efforts to address these issues but there is still a long way to go in terms of improving the quality of life for the people of Lesotho. Overall, Lesotho is a country with a rich cultural heritage and natural beauty but also faces a number of social and economic challenges that must be addressed in order for it to thrive.

And this is indeed what the contributions to this volume do. Parameterization of functional categories may however be understood in different ways even if one shares the dual assumptions that substantive elements (verbs, nouns, etc.) are present in all grammars and that X-bar principles are part of the grammatical knowledge available to the child prior to language-specific learning processes. From these assumptions it follows that the child should from early on be able to construct projections on the basis of these elements. The role of functional categories however may still be interpreted differently. One possibility first suggested by Radford (1986, 1990) and by Guilfoyle and Noonan (1988) is that children must discover which functional categories (FC) need to be implemented in the grammar of the language they are acquiring. Another possibility first explored by Hyams (1986) is that a specific category is present in developing grammars but that parameter values are set in a way deviating from the target adult grammar corresponding however to options realized in other adult systems A third option would be that these categories might be specified differently in developing as opposed to mature grammars All three are explored in the papers collected in this volume Before outlining the various hypotheses in more detail however I would like briefly to sketch the grammatical context in which the following debate is situated 2
