Locating the Water Leak from Exterior Influences

The water always collects at the lowest location in the vehicle. For this reason, in general work is performed from below upward.

Before starting to locate, the vehicle must be dry on the inside and outside.

The water leak locations in the vehicle interior does not have to be the same as the water entry point.

The water used must be soft water if possible. The use of detergent in drip drainage is permissible in appropriate circumstances

To locate find the necessary trim panels must be removed from the corresponding location. For example, water enters via the door, remove the door trim panel and in some cases the entry trim as well. This way the water route can be followed and the exact water leak location can be determined.

A technician remains in the vehicle and follows the water route up to the entry point.
