Manifesto of the Critical Theory of Society and Religion (3 vols.) Rudolf Siebert, 2010-08-16 The Manifesto develops further the Critical Theory of Religion intrinsic to the Critical Theory of Society of the Frankfurt School into a new paradigm of the Psychology Sociology Philosophy and Theology of Religion Its central theme is the theodicy problem The Manifesto approaches this theme in the framework of comparative religion and critical political theology in a narrative and discursive fashion In search of a solution to the theodicy problem the Manifesto explores trends in civil society toward Alternative Future I the Totally Administered Society Alternative Future II the Militarized Society and Alternative Future III the Reconciled Society in the horizon of the longing for the Wholly Other as perfect justice and unconditional love Toward that goal it relies on both the critical theory of society as developed by Max Horkheimer Ernst Bloch Walter Benjamin Theodor W Adorno and others and on the new political theology of Johannes B Metz Helmut Peukert and Edmund Arens Profitable Ideas Micheal O'Flynn, 2009 Scholarly attempts to explain the development of liberal individualism over the course of modern history have tended to focus on key principles and doctrines The emergence and spread of individualist ideas has been scrutinised to an extent but with insufficient attention to the manner in which they have been bound up with the opportunities and obstacles to accumulation at different stages of capitalist development To this end this book shows that as the capitalist system develops continuously generating new interests and societal conflicts the theories doctrines and moral precepts comprising liberal individualism change and evolve while its vital social function is preserved Teaching and Learning History Geoff Timmins, Keith Vernon, Christine Kinealy, 2005-04-18 This book informed by exceptionally wide inquiry into current history teaching practices in the English speaking world is a real achievement The authors convey current context and challenges with great insight and they move through possibilities in sequencing content skills and assessment without strident comment extending our knowledge of options and pitfalls in the process Peter N Stearns Provost George Mason University Comprehensive persuasive and at all times accessible in style and argument this text both encourages and empowers university historians to review and enhance their teaching practices All key facets of programme development are explored with reference to an extensive and well chosen range of international examples The chapter on the historian's skills and qualities of mind is one of several that I will be referring to frequently Jeanine Graham Senior Lecturer History University of Waikato the varied findings make fascinating reading this book should be required reading for everyone involved in teaching history there is plenty here for us all to learn from ESCalate In providing such a clear informative and thoughtful exploration of the current state of history in higher education and in helping to raise the quality of critical debate about its future this book contributes greatly to the growing scholarship of teaching and learning in the discipline It should also become a vital resource for all historians who wish to honour the old dictum that in teaching as in research the one duty we owe history is to rewrite it Professor Paul Hyland Director of History in the Subject Centre for History Classics and

Archaeology Extremely useful provides a thought provoking and useful discussion concerning the task of actually teaching history at university level This timely book needs to be read widely and the many issues it raises should command our closest attention Higher Education Review Over the last 10 years or so history as an academic discipline has become steeped in controversy and introspection Additional areas of interest have opened up fresh perspectives and approaches have been offered and new teaching and learning strategies have been advocated There has been an increasing emphasis on producing well qualified graduates equipped with the skills knowledge and attitudes to cope with the changing demands of the world of work This book suggests how these issues may be managed The authors identify and discuss the underlying principles and consider ways in which they can be applied at module and programme levels The Teaching Learning in the Humanities series edited by Ellie Chambers and Jan Parker is for beginning and experienced lecturers It deals with all aspects of teaching individual arts and humanities subjects in higher education Experienced teachers offer authoritative suggestions on how to become critically reflective about discipline specific practices
