Risk and Decision Analysis in Projects John R. Schuyler, 2001 Some of Schuyler s tried and true tips include The single point estimate is almost always wrong so that it is always better to express judgments as ranges A probability distribution completely expresses someone s judgment about the likelihood of values within the range We often need a single value cost or other assessment and the expected value mean of the distribution is the only unbiased predictor

Expected value is the probability weighted average and this statistical idea is the cornerstone of decision analysis Some decisions are easy perhaps aided by quick decision tree calculations on the back of an envelope Decision dilemmas typically involve risky outcomes many factors and the best alternatives having comparable value We only need analysis sufficient to confidently identify the best alternative As soon as you know what to do stop the analysis Be alert to ways to beneficially change project risks We can often eliminate avoid transfer or mitigate threats in some way Get to know the people who make their living helping managers sidestep risk They include insurance agents partners turnkey contractors accountants trainers and safety personnel Hybrid Artificial Intelligent Systems Emilio Corchado, Marek Kurzynski, Michal Wozniak, 2011-05-25 The two LNAI volumes 6678 and 6679 constitute the proceedings of the 6th International Conference on Hybrid Artificial Intelligent Systems HAIS 2011 held in Wroclaw Poland in May 2011 The 114 papers published in these proceedings were carefully reviewed and selected from 241 submissions They are organized in topical sessions on hybrid intelligence systems on logistics and intelligent optimization metaheuristics for combinatorial optimization and modelling complex systems hybrid systems for context based information fusion methods of classifier fusion intelligent systems for data mining and applications systems man and cybernetics hybrid artificial intelligence systems in management of production systems hybrid artificial intelligent systems for medical applications and hybrid intelligent approaches in cooperative multi robot systems
