

An illustration on the left side of the card depicts a stack of four books in red, blue, green, and orange. A rolled-up scroll with a gold ribbon is nestled among them. Green ivy leaves and vines are draped over the books and scroll. The entire scene is set against a white background with faint, stylized clouds.

A Graduation Wish For My Son

With all my heart, I wish for you...
That every dream you dream comes true.
I wish you time to work and play,
To find some beauty in each day.

I wish you peace and happiness,
And patience when you're feeling stressed.
And if you're just a little down,
May you have friends who come around.

I wish you laughter in your life,
And freedom from a lot of strife.
And great professors who can teach,
The kind that make you "stretch" and "reach."

I wish you four AMAZING years,
To question things, to conquer fears.
I wish you guidance from above,
I wish you joy...I wish you love.

I wish you "vision" as you go,
To help you soar, to help you grow.
And when it all is said and done,
You will succeed!...I love you, Son!

colonial period to the twenty first century What constitutes a southern writer is always a matter for debate Editors Joseph M Flora and Amber Vogel have used a generous definition that turns on having a significant connection to the region in either a personal or literary sense New to this volume are younger writers who have emerged in the quarter century since the dictionary's original publication as well as older talents previously unknown or unacknowledged For almost every writer found in the previous edition a new biography has been commissioned Drawn from the very best minds on southern literature and covering the full spectrum of its practitioners Southern Writers is an indispensable reference book for anyone intrigued by the subject

Making Minds Less Well Educated Than Our Own Roger C. Schank, 2004-04-26 In the author's words This book is an honest attempt to understand what it means to be educated in today's world His argument is this No matter how important science and technology seem to industry or government or indeed to the daily life of people as a society we believe that those educated in literature history and other humanities are in some way better informed more knowing and somehow more worthy of the descriptor well educated This 19th century conception of the educated mind weighs heavily on our notions on how we educate our young When we focus on intellectual and scholarly issues in high school as opposed to issues such as communications basic psychology or child raising we are continuing to rely on outdated notions of the educated mind that come from elitist notions of who is to be educated and what that means To accommodate the realities of today's world it is necessary to change these elitist notions We need to rethink what it means to be educated and begin to focus on a new conception of the very idea of education Students need to learn how to think not how to accomplish tasks such as passing standardized tests and reciting rote facts In this engaging book Roger C Schank sets forth the premises of his argument cites its foundations in the Great Books themselves and illustrates it with examples from an experimental curriculum that has been used in graduate schools and with K 12 students Making Minds Less Well Educated Than Our Own is essential reading for scholars and students in the learning sciences instructional design curriculum theory and planning educational policy school reform philosophy of education higher education and anyone interested in what it means to be educated in today's world
