Washington Square, the Ambassadors, the Real Thing and Other Tales. (3 Books) Henry James, 2016-11-19 Book One The Ambassadors is a 1903 novel by Henry James originally published as a serial in the North American Review NAR This dark comedy seen as one of the masterpieces of James's final period follows the trip of protagonist Lewis Lambert Strether to Europe in pursuit of Chad Newsome his widowed fiancée's supposedly wayward son he is to bring the young man back to the family business but he encounters unexpected complications The third person narrative is told exclusively from Strether's point of view Book Two Washington Square is a short novel by Henry James Originally published in 1880 as a serial in Cornhill Magazine and Harper's New Monthly Magazine it is a structurally simple tragicomedy that recounts the conflict between a dull but sweet daughter and her brilliant unemotional father The plot of the novel is based upon a true story told to James by his close friend British actress Fanny Kemble 1 The book is often compared with Jane Austen's work for the clarity and grace of its prose and its intense focus on family relationships James was not a great fan of Washington Square

himself He tried to read it over for inclusion in the New York Edition of his fiction 1907 1909 but found that he could not and the novel was not included Other readers though have sufficiently enjoyed the book to make it one of the more popular works of the Jamesian canon Book Three The Real Thing is a short story by Henry James first syndicated by S S McClure in multiple American newspapers and then published in the British publication Black and White in April 1892 1 and the following year as the title story in the collection The Real Thing and Other Stories published by Macmillan This story often read as a parable plays with the reality illusion dichotomy that fascinated James especially in the later stages of his career For the illustrator who narrates the story the genuine article proves all too useless for his commercial purposes The story portrays the unfortunate victims of a society in which reality and representation are closely intertwined in ways that make art a difficult project to untangle the two
