The Metaphysics of the School: Book 4. Principles of being; Book 5. Causes of being Thomas Harper,1881 Global Justice, Kant and the Responsibility to Protect Heather Roff,2013-06-26 This book provides an innovative contribution to the study of the Responsibility to Protect and Kantian political theory The Responsibility to Protect R2P doctrine has been heralded as the new international security norm to ensure the protection of peoples against genocide ethnic cleansing war crimes and crimes against humanity Yet for all of the discussion endorsements and reaffirmations of this new norm R2P continues to come under fire for its failures particularly and most recently in the case of Syria This book argues that a duty to protect is best considered a Kantian provisional duty of justice The international system ought to be considered a state of nature where legal institutions are either weak or absent and so duties of justice in such a condition cannot be considered peremptory This book suggests that by understanding the duty s provisional status we understand the necessity of creating the requisite executive legislative and judicial authorities Furthermore the book provides three innovative contributions to the literature study and practice of R2P and Kantian political theory it provides detailed theoretical analysis of R2P it addresses the research gap that exists with Kant s account of justice in states of nature and it presents a more comprehensive understanding of the metaphysics of justice as well as R2P This book will be of much interest to students of the Responsibility to Protect humanitarian intervention global ethics international law security studies and international relations IR in general The Metaphysics of Death John Martin Fischer,1993 This collection of seventeen essays deals with the metaphysical as opposed to the moral issues pertaining to death For example the authors investigate among other things the issue of what makes death a bad thing for an individual if indeed death is a bad thing This issue is more basic and abstract than such moral questions as the particular conditions under which euthanasia is justified if it is ever justified Though there are important connections between the more abstract questions addressed in this book and many contemporary moral issues such as euthanasia suicide and abortion the primary focus of this book is on metaphysical issues concerning the nature of death What is the nature of the harm or bad involved in death If it is not pain what is it and how can it be bad Who is the subject of the harm or bad if the person is no longer alive how can he be the subject of the bad An if he is not the subject who is Can one have harm with no subject When does the harm take place Can a harm take place after its subject ceases to exist If death harms a person can the harm take place before the death occurs If death can be a bad thing would immortality be a desirable alternative This family of questions helps to frame the puzzle of why and how death is bad Other subjects addressed include the Epicurean view that death is not a misfortune for the person who dies the nature of misfortune and benefit the meaningfulness and value of life and the distinction between the life of a person and the life of a living creature who is not a person There is an extensive bibliography that includes science fiction treatments of death and

Duff. With an appendix, containing the address On the philosophy of the Vedânta in its relations to occidental metaphysics* Paul Deussen,1894 Indigenous Education and the Metaphysics of Presence Carl Mika, 2017-03-16 Indigenous Education and the Metaphysics of Presence A worlded philosophy explores a notion of education called worldedness that sits at the core of indigenous philosophy. This is the idea that any one thing is constituted by all others and is therefore educational to the extent that it is formational. A suggested opposite of this indigenous philosophy is the metaphysics of presence which describes the tendency in dominant Western philosophy to privilege presence over absence. This book compares these competing philosophies and argues that even though the metaphysics of presence and the formational notion of education are at odds with each other they also constitute each other from an indigenous worlded philosophical viewpoint. Drawing on both Maori and Western philosophies this book demonstrates how the metaphysics of presence is both related and opposed to the indigenous notion of worldedness. Mika explains that presence seeks to fragment things in the world underpins how indigenous peoples can represent things and prevents indigenous students, critics and scholars from reflecting on philosophical colonisation. However the metaphysics of presence from an indigenous perspective is constituted by all other things in the world and Mika argues that the indigenous student and critic can re-emphasise worldedness and destabilise presence through creative responses, humour and speculative thinking. This book concludes by positioning well-being within education because education comprises acts of worldedness and presence. This book will be of key interest to indigenous as well as non-indigenous academics, researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of philosophy of education, indigenous and Western philosophy, political strategy and post-colonial studies. It will also be relevant for those who are interested in philosophies of language, ontology, metaphysics and knowledge.

Philosophy of the Unconscious: Metaphysics of the unconscious Eduard von Hartmann, 1893 V 1 The class of books to which the Philosophy of the Unconscious belongs is all but unrepresented in our literature but the absence of similar home productions can no longer be held to imply either an inability to comprehend their scope or an indifference to their results. To what shall we attribute the welcome accorded of late to certain reproductions and elucidations of the master works of modern Transcendentalism if not to the awakening of a long repressed desire to re-examine the foundations of a spiritual fabric for whose stability an instinctive confidence alone made answer To many two attitudes of mind have become insupportable that of total unconcern about fundamental truth and that of unthinking acquiescence in the admission of merely juxtaposed and uncommunicating spheres of positive knowledge and impenetrable nescience PsycINFO Database Record c 2011 APA all rights reserved
