Genetics and Mechanism of Ciliopathies Steven L. C. Pei, Brian Hon-Yin Chung, 2022-11-30 Elucidating the Determinants Between the Environment and Individuals' Behaviors Amidst the COVID-19 Pandemic and the Post-COVID Era Ayesha Mumtaz, Ondrej Holy, Erum Rehman, 2025-02-07

Individuals' behavior is considered to be impacted by the environment and molded by the interaction of certain environmental parameters and fundamental human traits. The COVID-19 epidemic had caused behavioral alterations. However, the impact of environmental characteristics such as social culture, neighborhood, and household and related interconnections with both personal and demographic traits such as biological sex, age, personality, and health concerns has received relatively minimal attention. As the epidemic subsides, such transformed patterns may endure or revert to former patterns with variations between population subgroups such as the general population, patients, teenagers, expectant mothers, and the elderly. The existence or absence of multiple environmental parameters may influence the disparity. Recognizing these multiplex interactions between the environmental, behavioral patterns, and individuals may enable our societies' readiness for the post-pandemic phase. This research topic intends to shed light on the interactions between individual traits and environmental parameters with a spectrum of pandemic-influenced behaviors. Certain health-improving behaviors, including social connection and physical exercise, may have decreased throughout the epidemic environment, while others may have expanded, such as sedentary behaviors, screen time, and social media use. Particular environmental characteristics that were recognized as enhancers or barriers of specific behaviors before the COVID-19 outbreak may persist to interact throughout and after the epidemic. These investigations are critical for comprehending the overarching effect of the environment on individuals' behavior. Individual preferences may also influence pandemic-induced behaviors, which are influenced by an individual's societal setting. It would be possible to design communities and territories that encourage a healthy lifestyle while also being more resistant to epidemics of infectious diseases that may occur more frequently in the coming decades as a consequence of climatic transformation and urban development by conducting investigations on such behaviors, thereby providing evidence on how the interactions between individuals and the environment influence multiple health-related behaviors.

The Report: Oman 2017, Oman's economy contracted by 13.8% in nominal terms in 2015 as the ongoing low oil price environment squeezed growth and led to the largest budget deficit in over a decade. In a bid to tackle the shortfall, the government is taking a number of revenue-raising measures, such as cutting subsidies and increasing corporation tax, while remaining focused on its long-term diversification goals. Though hydrocarbons still account for 33.9% of GDP and 78.7% of state revenues, non-oil sectors are playing an increasingly prominent role in the country's economic profile. Authorities are targeting heavy industries in particular with plans to boost their GDP contribution from 19.8% today to 29% by 2020. Meanwhile, annual growth of 6% is being targeted in the mining sector, with a host of regulatory initiatives being implemented as the government seeks to boost investor

Mental Health Matthew Hodes, Petrus J. De Vries, 2022-09-19 Shaping the Future of Child and Adolescent Mental Health Towards Technological Advances and Service Innovations coincides with the 25th International Association for Child and Adolescent Psychiatry and Allied Professions IACAPAP Congress in Dubai from December 5-9, 2022. There are three overarching themes of this book. Firstly, the impact of the Internet and digital technologies on the mental health and well-being of children and adolescents, including computerized therapies and the fundamental role of technologies to advance knowledge in the field. Secondly, a theme on harnessing the expansion of knowledge on psychiatric disorders and their treatment for children and adolescents, exemplified by chapters on different kinds of adversity in child and adolescent mental health and a chapter on precision therapeutics. Given the location of the IACAPAP Congress, the third theme focuses on aspects of child and adolescent mental health in the Eastern Mediterranean Region. Chapters provide insights into a broad range of contemporary technology and service innovation-related topics in child and adolescent psychiatry and mental health. These include growing up in the digital age, cyberbullying, clinical applications of big data and machine learning, computerized cognitive behavioral therapy, technology-enhanced learning, lessons from COVID-19, new understanding of the consequences of psychological trauma, autoimmune encephalitis, and precision therapeutics in depression. Acknowledging the global challenge of child and adolescent psychiatry and mental health, readers will find an emphasis on contextual challenges in the field, including innovations for scaling up of mental health intervention in low and middle-income countries and research and training in the Eastern Mediterranean Region. Emphasizes digital influences and applications in child and adolescent mental health research, psychiatric treatments, and training. Highlights children and adolescents in adversity, including COVID-19 and psychological trauma. Appraises new approaches to understanding selected psychiatric disorders in children and adolescents. Addresses the research in child and adolescent psychiatry and mental health across the Eastern Mediterranean Region and training in the Gulf Region. The Report: Oman 2011, 2010 Oman, 2016 Stress and Mental Health of College Students M. V. Landow, 2006 College students are subject to a massive input of stresses which require successful and ever-changing coping strategies. These stresses include inside and outside pressures by the world to succeed, financial worries, concerns about uncertain futures, social problems, and opportunities since college is often the meeting place for future mates and homework and tests in multiple and complex subjects requiring preparation and focus with often conflicting priorities. Unsuccessful coping often results in anxiety, heavy drinking, depression, and a host of other mental health problems. This new book presents new and important research in this important field. Healthcare in the Arabian Gulf and Greater Middle East: A Guide for Healthcare Professionals - E-Book May McCreaddie, Gary E.
