Oman Moh Manual:

Health and Health Care In Developing Countries Peter Conrad, Eugene B Gallagher, 1993-06-15 In this seminal collection of articles on health care in the Third World sociological perspectives are applied to medical issues in revealing ways. Fourteen essays all but two of which are original to this volume examine the social production of health disease and systems of care throughout the developing world. The volume covers a range of areas: central Africa, Nigeria, Singapore, Taiwan, Indonesia, Nepal, China, United Arab Emirates, Oman, and Mexico, and a broad scope of topics from emergency care, the AIDS epidemic, and women's health care to public health programs and national health care policies. Contributors address the central question of whether health systems in developing areas should emphasize the role of clinical medicine and individual physicians or community and preventive medical resources. The major health problems faced by these societies: inadequate sanitation, infectious disease, high infant child mortality, and a lack of family planning indicate the greater need for health educators and public health workers despite many poor nations' desire for Western doctors. Other topics that are examined include the process of seeking medical aid, the relationship between traditional and modern medicines, medical education, hospital care, and communication between doctors and patients in developing countries, and the relevance and application of sociology in Third World settings. This volume seeks to draw attention to the significance of medical sociology for understanding Third World health problems and to show how examining developing societies may necessitate reframing or modifying some Western sociological notions. In addition, these essays stretch the boundaries of medical sociology to include Third World issues.

Healthcare Reform, Quality and Safety Jeffrey Braithwaite, Yukihiro Matsuyama, Russell Mannion, Julie Johnson, 2015-03-28 This book offers a global perspective on healthcare reform and its relationship with efforts to improve quality and safety. It looks at the ways reforms have developed in 30 countries and specifically the impact national reform initiatives have had on the quality and safety of care. It explores how reforms drive quality and safety improvement and equally how they act to negate such goals. Every country included in this book is involved in a reform and improvement process but each takes place in a particular social, cultural, economic, and developmental context, leading to differing emphases and varied progress. Methods for tackling common problems, financing efficiencies, effectiveness, evidence-based practice, institutional reforms, quality improvement, and patient safety initiatives also differ. Representatives from each nation provide a chapter to convey their own situation. The editors draw a conclusion from these numerous contributions and synthesize the themes emerging into a coherent lessons learned summary that delivers value to the numerous stakeholders. Healthcare Reform, Quality and Safety forms a compendium of the current state of the art in global healthcare reform. This is the first book of its type and offers a unique opportunity for cross-fertilization of ideas to the mutual benefit of countries involved in the project. Projectland Holly High, 2021-05-31 In Projectland anthropologist Holly High combines an engaging first person narrative of her fieldwork with a political ethnography of Laos more than forty years after the establishment of the Lao PDR and more than seven decades since socialist ideologues first liberated parts of upland country In a remote village of Kandon High finds that although socialism has declined significantly as an economic model it is ascendant and thriving in the culture of politics and the politics of culture Kandon is remarkable by any account The villagers are ethnic Kantu Katu an ethnicity associated by early ethnographers above all with human sacrifice They had repelled French control and as the war went on the revolutionary forces of Sekong were headquartered in Kandon territories In 1996 Kandon village moved and resettled in a plateau area New Kandon has become Sekong Province's first certified Culture Village the nation's very first Open Defecation Free and Model Health Village and the president of Laos personally granted the village a Labor Flag and Medal High provides a unique and timely assessment of the Lao Party state's resettlement politics and she recounts with skillful nuance the stories that are often cast into shadows by the usual focus on New Kandon as a success Her book follows the lives of a small group of villagers who returned to the old village in the mountains effectively defying policy but in their words obeying the presence that animates the land there Revealing her sensibility with tremendous composure High tells the experiences of women who bound by steep bride prices to often violent marriages have tasted little of the socialist project of equality unity and independence These women spoke to the author of necessities as a limit to their own lives In a context where the state has defined the legitimate forms of success and agency necessity emerged as a means of framing one's life as nonconforming but also nonagentive form a bridge for those countries seeking to enhance their patient safety policies Contributors to this book challenge many supposed generalisations about human societies including consideration of how medical care is mediated within those societies and how patient safety is assured or compromised By introducing major theories from the developing world in the book readers are encouraged to reflect on their impact on the patient safety and the health quality debate The development of practical patient safety policies for wider use is also encouraged The volume presents a ground breaking perspective by exploring fundamental issues relating to patient safety through different academic disciplines It develops the possibility of a new patient safety and health quality synthesis and discourse relevant to all concerned with patient safety and health quality in a global context Geochemistry ,1963
