Extended Curriculum Programmes Tennyson Mgutshini, 2022-04-30 The introduction of ECPs in South African Universities is seen by many as South Africa's key strategy for addressing the problem of poor patterns of student success and has its basis on the uncontested acceptance that an extended study duration may be necessary to bring some categories of learners to a level of parity with the readiness expectations of their course of study Even so this transformative strategic imperative has been plagued by a range of challenges that include poor systems readiness poor selection mechanisms in the identification of ECP students poor numeracy and literacy amongst students and indifferent teacher involvement in ECPs This volume offers a rare insight into many of the above recognised challenges and in so doing provides critical matter for thought for educators within the higher education sector

Anchored in Place Bank, Leslie, Cloete, Nico, 2018-11-05 Tensions in South African universities have traditionally centred around equity particularly access and affordability historical legacies such as apartheid and colonialism and the shape and structure of the higher education system What has not received sufficient attention is the contribution of the university to place based development This volume is the first in South Africa to engage seriously with the place based developmental role of universities In the international literature and policy there has been an increasing integration of the university with place based development especially in cities This volume weighs in on the debate by drawing attention to the place based roles and agency of South African universities in their local towns and cities It acknowledges that universities were given specific development roles in regions homelands and towns under apartheid and comments on why sub national place based development has not been a key theme in post apartheid higher education planning Given the developmental crisis in the country universities could be expected to play a more constructive and meaningful role in the development of their own precincts cities and regions But what should that role be Is there evidence that this is already occurring in South Africa despite the lack of a national policy framework What plans and programmes are in place and what is needed to expand the development agency of universities at the local level Who and what might be involved Where should the focus lie and who might benefit most and why Is there a need perhaps to approach the challenges of college towns secondary cities and metropolitan centers differently This book poses some of these questions as it considers the experiences of a number of South African universities including Wits Pretoria Nelson Mandela University and especially Fort Hare as one of its post centenary challenges

Factoring Ethics in Technology, Policy Making, Regulation and AI Ali G. Hessami, Patricia Shaw, 2021-10-27 This book explores the ethical implications of the burgeoning adoption and deployment of Autonomous Decision Making and Algorithmic Learning Systems ADM ALS on human rights and societal values as well as these systems potential social harms and benefits After two millennia of recorded civilization consideration of ethics and social values in all that we strive for is a long overdue phenomenon Therefore this is a journey that we ve just embarked on thanks to the emergence of ADM ALS and should not be treated as a destination in line with many other facets and emergent properties of products services and systems This book informs policymakers and practitioners about best practices in technology ethics pertinent to many disciplines and sectors

Educating Citizen Designers in South Africa Elmarie Costandius, Herman Botes, 2018-09-07 Educating Citizen Designers in South Africa is the first book of its kind to appear in post apartheid South Africa and it is therefore both overdue and extremely welcome The book aims at sharing critical citizenship design teaching and learning pedagogies by including contributions from a range of design educators and one student who work in different design disciplines such as architecture graphic and product design Critical citizenship education is explicated in relation to a range of theories and new and existing models Numerous contemporary case studies and examples of design projects from a range of South African Higher Education Institutions are included As such a variety of perspectives emerge including the consensual where the aim of critical citizenship education is viewed as promoting social justice shared values and critical thinking to the conflicting where critiques are levelled against conceptions of critical citizenship education Contentious contesting and contradictory views are inevitable and necessary given the South African context as it is only in open debate that the one point of agreement among the authors the need for social change can be worked towards Prof Deirdre Pretorius

Univeristy of Johannesburg      Bombardier Abroad David P. Thomas,2018-10-10T00:00:00Z In Bombardier Abroad Thomas examines several cases of the Canadian aerospace giant s work in the high speed rail sector in South Africa China Tibet and Israel Palestine and argues that these projects are deepening existing social and political tensions By participating in these infrastructure projects Thomas argues Bombardier is both inserting itself into highly contested social and political climates and profiting from actions that further exacerbate existing conditions of dispossession and inequality Thomas also examines the various ways in which the Canadian state supports the work of Bombardier in these countries Centred around a theoretical framework that combines concepts of dispossession political economy and important interventions from the field of settler colonial studies Bombardier Abroad is a critical look at the problematic practices of a Canadian corporation and the ways in which the Canadian state is culpable      Higher Education Pathways Ashwin, Paul,Case, Jennifer M.,2018-12-14 In what ways does access to undergraduate education have a transformative impact on people and societies What conditions are required for this impact to occur What are the pathways from an undergraduate education to the public good including inclusive economic development These questions have particular resonance in the South African higher education context which is attempting to tackle the challenges of widening access and improving completion rates in in a system in which the segregations of the apartheid years are still apparent Higher education is recognised in core legislation as having a distinctive and crucial role in building post apartheid society Undergraduate education is seen as central to addressing skills shortages in South Africa It is also seen to yield significant social returns including a consistent positive impact on societal institutions and the development of a range of capabilities that have public as well as private benefits This book offers comprehensive contemporary evidence that allows for a fresh engagement with these pressing issues      Open and Distance Education in Asia, Africa and the Middle East Olaf Zawacki-Richter,Adnan Qayyum,2019-02-18 This book is open access under a CC BY 4 0 license This book describes the history structure and institutions of open and distance education in six countries China India Russia Turkey South Africa and South Korea It describes how open and distance education is evolving in a digital age to reflect the needs and circumstances of the national higher education systems in these countries It also explores the similarities and differences between how their open and distance higher education systems are managed and structured This book is the second in a series following Open and Distance Education in Australia Europe and the Americas Springer 2018 Both books compare and draw conclusions about the nature of open and distance education in the context of various national higher education systems In a digital era characterized by the growing use of online open and distance education this book will prove particularly valuable for policy makers and senior administrators who want to learn about establishing or expanding open and distance education services In addition it offers a valuable reference guide for researchers academics and students interested in understanding the different approaches to open and distance education
