Women's Work Jennifer Moore, 2025-03-11 When women have full socioeconomic citizenship as well as equitable and respectful partnerships with men transformative justice can be sustained in postconflict societies In Women's Work Jennifer Moore presents a reimagined theory of peacebuilding and transformative justice based on the experiences and insights of women farmers and microentrepreneurs who lived through protracted civil conflicts drawing on seven years of interviews with women activists across ten communities five in the Acholi region of Northern Uganda and five in the Moyamba and Koinadugu Districts of Sierra Leone Despite the important differences between the preconflict and conflict histories and demographics of the two countries Moore finds commonalities in the practical yet visionary approaches to community life emerging from the core values daily activities and long range goals shared by rural cooperative members in both regions Collective survival communal healing and conflict resolution define the rhythm of these women's daily lives as they go about building peace piecemeal They reject punitive retribution models and demand instead a peacebuilding model that advocates for advances in material well being the acknowledgment of state accountability for community suffering and reconciliation and restoration of community networks But most important Moore amplifies these women's voices when they insist that legal equality for women and healthy partnerships between women and men are also essential components to enduring transformation of their societies Moore theorizes what peacebuilding look like if it were modeled on these women led matriarchically structured communities that proved not only to be effective at holding governments accountable but also to have the capacity to feed their people and revitalize their local economies Women's Work shows that when women have full socioeconomic citizenship as well as equitable and respectful partnerships with men transformative justice can be sustained through the arts of collective livelihood violence free conflict management and celebration

The First Atomic Bomb Jim Mangi, 2022-06-20 While German and Japanese scientists also labored unsuccessfully to create an atomic bomb by the summer of 1945 the American led team was ready to test its first weapon As the clock ticked down to the detonation time of 05 30 hours on 16 July 1945 the nervous team of technicians and scientists waited ten miles away from Ground Zero deep in the New Mexico desert No one knew how powerful the explosion would be or whether even at such a distance they would be safe from the blast Even so some chose to observe the detonation from a point four miles nearer at the control bunker but then no one was even sure that the bomb would work What if that is actually what happened Under schedule pressure from the White House the scientists assembled the device in part with tape and tissue paper knowing some components were flawed These are verifiable facts It means that as many of those who gathered in the New Mexico desert feared at the time the bomb might not have worked during that first test In The First Atomic Bomb Jim Mangi explores what might happened in the event that the world s first atomic bomb had not been ready for use when it was How would this have affected the end of the war in the Pacific and indeed the Second World War as a whole Would Emperor Hirohito s armed forces have battled on When might Colonel Paul W Tibbets at the controls of his Boeing B 29 Superfortress Enola Gay have then made his historic flight over Hiroshima and would that city even have remained the target How would Stalin and the Soviets have reacted to such developments and how would this have played out in the post war world

Saussure's Third Course of Lectures on General Linguistics (1910-1911) R. Harris, E. Komatsu, 2014-05-23 The notes taken by Saussure s student Emile Constantin were not available to the editors of the published Cours de linguistique g n rale 1916 and came to light only after the second world war They have never been published in their entirety The third and last course of lectures of which Constantin kept this very full record is generally considered to represent a more advanced version of Saussure's teaching than the earlier two It is clear that Constantin's notebooks offer a text which differs in a number of significant respects from the Cours published by Saussure's original editors and bring forward ideas which do not emerge in the 1916 publication They constitute unique evidence concerning the final stages of Saussure's thinking about language This edition of the notes is accompanied by an introduction and a full English translation of the text There has been no attempt made by Komatsu and Harris to turn the English into readable prose Constantin's notes even as revised by their author retain the infelicities repetitions abruptness occasionally incoherences that betray the circumstances of their origin The volume constitutes an important landmark in the history of modern linguistics and provides essential documentation for all scholars and libraries specializing in the subject Digital Development in Korea Myung Oh, James Larson, 2011-03-14 This book explores the role of digital information and communications technology in South Korea's development starting with and building upon the crucial developments of the 1980s Its perspective draws on the information society concept and on a conceptual model of strategic restructuring of telecommunications It also draws on firsthand experience in formulating and implementing policies The analysis identifies aspects of the Korean experience from which developing countries around the world might benefit Oh and Larson describe the revolutionary developments of the 1980s including the TDX electronic switching system a major surge forward in semiconductors the start of privatization and color television and the thoroughgoing restructuring of Korea's telecommunications sector They further explore government leadership the growing private sector and international trade pressures in the diffusion of broadband mobile communication and convergence toward a ubiquitous network society The role of education in these developments is explored in detail along with both the positive and negative aspects of Korea's vibrant new digital media The book also looks at Korea's growing international involvement its role in efforts to build a world information society and finally its future place in cyberspace This book will be of interest to students scholars and policy makers interested in communications technologies Asian Korean Studies and development studies African Cities New Politicain, Direction, Managing, Growth, & Control Ahmed Ceegaag, 2022-06-05 African Cities direction had not been challenging of leadership and the mayors will be working discussion advised opposition leaders bills contractors foreign investments watched all Federal Ministers heard Parliaments Opposition arguments inside He must be respecting all state Governors Somalia Constitutions Since the Mohamed Siyad Barre government was overthrowing in Somalia as his President was good for Somalis or bad for them A nationalized recession that hit Somalia after our Civil War a new focus on our land will need new countenance of government new leaders in good health than the central point cream of the crop between Somalis What is the City Councils SECTION 01 But Satan caused them to slip from it and caused them to depart the state they were in We said Go down some of you enemies of one another And you will have residence on earth and enjoyment for a
