

Laboratory Activity #1 — Student Laboratory PacketRelationships and BiodiversityA Laboratory Activity for the Living EnvironmentIntroduction

Botana curus is a valuable plant because it produces Curol, a compound used for treating certain kinds of cancer. Curol cannot be produced in the laboratory. Botana curus grows very slowly and is on the endangered species list, so its ability to provide Curol in large quantities is limited.

Species that are more closely related to Botana curus are more likely to produce the important substance Curol. Three similar plant species that are plentiful (X, Y, and Z) may be related to Botana curus. You will work as a researcher to:

- gather structural and molecular evidence to determine which plant species is most closely related to the hypothetical species, Botana curus
- use this evidence to decide which plant species is most likely to serve as a source of the important substance Curol

Safety

- You will need to wear goggles while conducting Tests 4 and 5.
- Do not eat or drink anything in the laboratory while doing this laboratory activity.

Important Note: Record all of your data and answers on these laboratory sheets. You will need to keep them for review before the Regents Examination. Later, you will need to transfer your answers to a separate Student Answer Packet. Your teacher will use the packet in grading your work, and the school will retain it as evidence of your completion of the laboratory requirement for the Living Environment Regents Examination.

Structural Evidence for Relationships

Perform the following tests and record your observations in Table 1 on page 8 of this packet. Use a hand lens or microscope as needed.

Test 1-Structural Characteristics of Plants

- Do not remove the plant samples from the plastic bags/cards.
- Compare the structural characteristics of the plant samples. Record your observations in Table 1 (see page 8).

Test 2-Structural Characteristics of Seeds

- Do not remove the seed samples from the plastic bags/cards.
- Compare the structural characteristics of the seed samples. Record your observations in Table 1.

"Relationships and Biodiversity" is a laboratory activity produced by the State Education Department for use in fulfilling part of the laboratory requirement for the Regents Examination in Living Environment. Reproducing any part of this laboratory activity by other than New York State school personnel is illegal.

Invasion Ecology Marianne E. Krasny, 2003 Invasion Ecology is the second volume in the four part Environmental Inquiry curriculum series designed to show you how to apply scientific knowledge to solving real life problems Leading the Sustainable Organization Peter McAteer, 2025-08-05 Never before have we been presented with the prospect of redesigning business at scale to create a more sustainable future for our planet and the people who inhabit it As we pass the midpoint of the Sustainable Development Goals 2015 2030 the world has changed There is not only more progress and policy but also more disagreement on the way forward The bottom line is that the shared goals developed in 2015 will not be met global warming will likely exceed targets and the collective challenge will be left to a new generation The book is organized as a series of business challenges and key questions that enable a transition from making legacy companies more carbon and waste efficient to operating in fundamentally new ways The vast majority of the new infrastructure the world will need by 2050 still needs to be built Those challenges will not be solved by legacy companies working to protect their market position in the face of a changing world The book offers a chapter by chapter guide to enable new leaders to turn challenges into opportunities

The Great Regeneration Dorn Cox,2023-03-16 In the age of climate change food scarcity and increasing industrialization can a few visionary farmers find global solutions through technology and create networked open source regenerative agriculture at a truly transformative scale In The Great Regeneration farmer technologist Dorn Cox and author activist Courtney White explore unique groundbreaking research aimed at reclaiming the space where science and agriculture meet as a shared human endeavor By employing the same tools used to visualize and identify the global instability in our climate and our communities such as satellite imagery they identify ways to accelerate regenerative solutions beyond the individual farm The Great Regeneration also explores the critical function that open source tech can have in promoting healthy agroecological systems through data sharing and networking If these systems are brought together there is potential to revolutionize how we manage food production around the world decentralizing and deindustrializing the structures and governance that have long dominated the agricultural landscape and embrace the principles of regenerative agriculture with democratized open source technology disseminating high quality information not just to farmers and ranchers but to all of us as we take on the role of ecosystem stewards In this important book the authors present a simple choice we can allow ourselves to be dominated by new technology or we can harness its potential and use it to understand and improve our shared environment

The solutions we need now they write involve a broader public narrative about our relationship to science to each other and to our institutions And we all need to understand that the choices made today will affect the generations to come The Great Regeneration shows how together we can create positive and lasting change

Transdisciplinary Research for Understanding and Transforming Food Systems Alexandros Gasparatos, Laura M. Pereira, Cyrille Rigolot, 2023-10-30

Food systems are currently facing tremendous challenges and changes globally On the one hand population growth urbanization and increased affluence are expected to catalyze dietary shifts and broader changes to food systems in the coming decades On the other hand food systems and changes therein have major environmental and social ramifications As a result fostering the sustainable transformation of food systems is seen as one of the major challenges for meeting the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs However understanding food systems and transforming them in a sustainable manner is far from straightforward especially as our food systems have multiple intersecting economic social technological and cultural dimensions Moreover food systems encompass different stakeholders operating at different levels with enormously different interests and worldviews

The History of Environmental Degradation in Mar Menor Juan Manuel Zaragoza, David Soto, Malena Cantero, 2025-02-28 This book offers a multidisciplinary analysis of the degradation process of an ecosystem drawing upon the Mar Menor as a case study to highlight the damage human pressure causes to the environment All ecosystems change over time although in some cases this variation is more dynamic and evident The Mar Menor is a clear example of this ecological transition as it is the largest coastal lagoon in the western Mediterranean and the first ecosystem in Europe to be granted legal personhood rights This book provides an extensive overview of the history of its environmental degradation over the past 100 years highlighting the subsequent succession of environmental crises including phytoplankton explosions the disappearance of large areas of submerged meadows due to eutrophication and episodes of mass mortality of aquatic fauna Split into three sections to reflect thematic blocks the book begins with a comprehensive description of the Mar Menor and its marine ecosystems emphasizing its ecological value and unique space in Spain and Europe It discusses intensive and globalized agriculture surrounding agro export and the laws that legislate it In the second part the book draws on a series of cultural concepts theoretical frameworks and participatory arts based research to enrich our understanding of the environment from multiple perspectives Finally in the third part the book uses analysis gathered from the Mar Menor case study to discuss wider conclusions about the ways in which we can begin to undo our damage to the environment and restore ecosystems This book will be useful for students academics and researchers interested in environmental justice environmental history and anthropology sustainable development and environmental studies more broadly
