Quantified Dawn Nafus, 2016-04-08 What is at stake socially culturally politically and economically when we routinely use technology to gather information about our bodies and environments Today anyone can purchase technology that can track quantify and measure the body and its environment Wearable or portable sensors detect heart rates glucose levels steps taken water quality genomes and microbiomes and turn them into electronic data Is this phenomenon empowering or a new form of social control Who volunteers to enumerate bodily experiences and who is forced to do so Who interprets the resulting data How does all this affect the relationship between medical practice and self care between scientific and lay knowledge Quantified examines these and other issues that arise when biosensing technologies become part of everyday life The book offers a range of perspectives with views from the social sciences cultural studies journalism industry and the nonprofit world The contributors consider data personhood and the urge to self quantify legal commercial and medical issues including privacy the outsourcing of medical advice and self tracking as a paraclinical practice and technical concerns including interoperability sociotechnical calibration alternative views of data and new space for design Contributors Marc B hlen Geoffrey C Bowker Sophie Day Anna de Paula Hanika Deborah Estrin Brittany Fiore Gartland Dana Greenfield Judith Gregory Mette Kragh Furbo Celia Lury Adrian Mackenzie Rajiv Mehta Maggie Mort Dawn Nafus Gina Neff Helen Nissenbaum Heather Patterson Celia Roberts Jamie Sherman Alex Taylor Gary Wolf Self-Tracking Btihaj

Ajana, 2017-10-01 This book provides an empirical and philosophical investigation of self tracking practices In recent years there has been an explosion of apps and devices that enable the data capturing and monitoring of everyday activities behaviours and habits Encouraged by movements such as the Quantified Self a growing number of people are embracing this culture of quantification and tracking in the spirit of improving their health and wellbeing The aim of this book is to enhance understanding of this fast growing trend bringing together scholars who are working at the forefront of the critical study of self tracking practices Each chapter provides a different conceptual lens through which one can examine these practices while grounding the discussion in relevant empirical examples From phenomenology to discourse analysis from questions of identity privacy and agency to issues of surveillance and tracking at the workplace this edited collection takes on a wide and yet focused approach to the timely topic of self tracking It constitutes a useful companion for scholars students and everyday users interested in the Quantified Self phenomenon Intermedialities Davide Panagia,2024-07-15 Understanding democracy through film philosophy and political theory Shining new light on our understanding of cinema s ways of political thinking Intermedialities Political Theory and Cinematic Experience puts modern political theory in conversation with the philosophy of film Davide Panagia argues that there are no natural laws of association that can guarantee a template for democratic participation as democracy is predicated not on stabilizing foundations but rather on the formation of expansive collectivities and institutions that are responsive to alterability Instead democracy requires a relational ontology one that he elucidates by turning to philosophers of film like Stanley Cavell Gilles Deleuze Miriam Hansen and Jean Luc Godard all of whom have articulated a political aesthetic of cinematic experience that is at once aspectual and compositional Panagia reads these thinkers alongside a countertradition of modern political thought represented by David Hume Ludwig Wittgenstein and Gilbert Simondon His articulation of cinematic experience thus allows for a political aesthetic that is rooted in the migratory realities of undetermined relations The Soft Power of Non-Western Small States Sarina Theys,2024-09-12 This book critically engages with the concepts of small states and soft power and advances a new approach to defining small states a new conceptualisation of soft power and a method for empirically analysing the exercise of soft power It revisits the concepts of small states and soft power with a focus on Bhutan and Qatar and their approach to exercise soft power to achieve their foreign policy goals Building on two main perspectives to define small states the objective approach and the subjective perspective this book offers an intersubjective approach to define states as small The intersubjective approach requires a shared understanding between states that a certain state is small The book further highlights the importance of deconstructing the meaning of size and to separate the notion of size from the concept of power because size is not always indicative of power It argues that although small states tend to have fewer material resources than large states they nevertheless can have influence through the exercise of soft power Soft power is in this book defined as the ability of an actor to convince another actor that something is true Convincing deals with the beliefs of an actor and is a mental decision rather than a physical action This book argues that the exercise of soft power can be analysed through examining the development projection and reception of identities The findings of this book show that Bhutan was more successful than Qatar in exercising soft power and explains the reasons for this variation Aimed at a multidisciplinary audience this book will be of particular interest to practitioners scholars and students of International Relations Political Power Small States and Area Studies Indigenous Studies: Breakthroughs in Research and Practice Management Association, Information Resources,2019-10-11 Global interest in indigenous studies has been rapidly growing as researchers realize the importance of understanding the impact indigenous communities can have on the economy development education and more As the use acceptance and popularity of indigenous knowledge increases it is crucial to explore how this community based knowledge provides deeper insights understanding and influence on such things as decision making and problem solving Indigenous Studies Breakthroughs in Research and Practice examines the politics culture language history socio economic development methodologies and contemporary experiences of indigenous peoples from around the world as well as how contemporary issues impact these indigenous communities on a local national and global scale Highlighting a range of topics such as local narratives intergenerational cultural transfer and ethnicity and identity this publication is an ideal reference source for sociologists policymakers anthropologists instructors researchers academicians and graduate level students in a variety of fields

The Flexible Workplace Marko Orel, Ondřej Dvoutělý, Vanessa Ratten, 2021-01-19 With current socio economic development trends and changing work landscapes modern workplaces are progressively becoming a subject of flexibilisation and hybridisation Contemporary office environments are commonly adapting to the needs of the flexible labour markets by offering the non territorial and rotation based practice of allocating desks to workers on dynamic schedules This book explores this growing trend by offering different perspectives on the benefits and challenges of the flexible workplace phenomena Topics discussed range from defining and comparing flexible coworking and corpoworking spaces policies made in local environments and the flexible working taxonomy

Regulating Big Tech Martin Moore, Damian Tambini, 2022 Selected chapters from this book are published open access and free to read or download from Oxford Scholarship Online <https://oxford.universitypressscholarship.com> Since Digital Dominance was published in 2018 a global consensus has emerged that technology platforms should be regulated. Governments from the United States to Australia have sought to reduce the power of these platforms and curtail the dominance of a few yet regulatory responses remain fragmented with some focused solely on competition while others seek to address issues around harm, privacy and freedom of expression. Regulating Big Tech condenses the vibrant tech policy debate into a toolkit for the policy maker, legal expert and academic seeking to address one of the key issues facing democracies today: platform dominance and its impact on society. Contributors explore elements of the toolkit through comprehensive coverage of existing and future policy on data, antitrust, competition, freedom of expression, jurisdiction, fake news, elections, liability and accountability while also identifying potential policy impacts on global communication, user rights, public welfare and economic activity. With original chapters from leading academics and policy experts, Regulating Big Tech sets out a policy framework that can address interlocking challenges of contemporary tech regulation and offer actionable solutions for our technological future.

Utopia Computer. The "New" in Architecture? Bredella, Nathalie, Dähne, Chris, Lausch, Frederike, 2023-05-31 The critical concern of the book Utopia Computer is the euphoria, expectation and hope inspired by the introduction of computers within architecture in the early digital age. With the advent of the personal computer and the launch of the Internet in the 1990s, utopian ideals found in architectural discourse from the 1960s were revisited and adjusted to the specific characteristics of digital media. Taking the 1990s discourse on computation as a starting point, the contributions of this book grapple with the utopian promises associated with topics such as participation, self-organization and non-standard architecture. By placing these topics in a historical framework, the book offers perspectives for the future role computation might play within architecture and society. Die Publikation Utopie Computer thematisiert die Euphorie und die Erwartungen, die mit der Einführung des Computers in der Architektur im frühen digitalen Zeitalter verbunden sind. Mit dem Aufkommen des Personal Computers und der kommerziellen Nutzung des Internets in den 1990er Jahren werden utopische Ideen, die bereits den Architekturdiskurs der 1960er Jahre prägen, aufgegriffen und an die spezifischen Möglichkeiten der digitalen Medien angepasst. Ausgehend vom Diskurs eines computerbasierten Entwerfens der 1990er Jahre setzen sich die Beiträge dieses Buches mit Entwurfskonzepten der Nachkriegszeit auseinander. Es werden Themen wie Partizipation, Selbstorganisation oder Non-Standard-Architektur in einen historischen Kontext gesetzt und Perspektiven für die zukünftige Rolle des Computers in der Architektur und Gesellschaft entwickelt.

American Higher Education John R. Thelin, 2022-12-13 The latest book in the Core Concepts in Higher Education series brings to life issues of governance, organization, teaching and learning, student life, faculty finances, college sports, public policy, fundraising and innovations in higher education today. Written by renowned author John R. Thelin, each chapter bridges research theory and practice and discusses a range of institutions including the often overlooked for profits community colleges and minority serving institutions In the book s second edition Thelin analyzes growing trends in American higher education over the last five years shedding light on the effects of the COVID 19 pandemic He covers reconsideration of the rights of student athletes provides fresh analysis of the brick and mortar campus and includes a new chapter exploring school admissions recruitment and retention Rich end of chapter Additional Readings and Questions for Discussion help engage students in critical thinking A blend of stories and analysis this book challenges present and future higher education practitioners to be informed and active participants capable of improving their institutions

A Cold Colonialism Tina Adcock,2025-06-01 Exploration has long been pivotal to southern engagements with northern Canada but it is most often associated with the nineteenth century or earlier A Cold Colonialism offers the first extended examination of twentieth century exploration in the Canadian North Modern exploration helped southerners establish and maintain distinctive kinds of colonial and settler colonial power over northern Indigenous homelands Who explored the North between 1918 and 1965 What forms did exploration take What did it mean to explorers and others affected by it Tina Adcock focuses on four representative explorers with richly documented careers mining engineer George Douglas surveyor Guy Blanchet ethnologist Vilhjalmur Stefansson and filmmaker Richard Finnie Despite limited experience in and knowledge of the Canadian North these explorers helped southern militaries industries and governments exert control over northern peoples and their lands Each also claimed belonging in and authority over the North in ways that still resonate among southern settlers in Canada today

New Laboratories Charlotte Klonk,2016-04-11 New laboratory buildings are currently being planned all around the world Are they different from or even better than their predecessors To answer this question the authors of this book have journeyed into the past and present of laboratory architecture They discuss the images of the research scientist and the laboratory that have been purveyed since the natural sciences were institutionalised in the nineteenth century They also examine contemporary architectural solutions in the light of influential laboratory architectures of the latter half of the twentieth century thereby discovering a great variety of approaches historical and contemporary for both the functional interrelation of spaces and the tension between symbolic fa ades and internal structures can take very different forms

Realities in Pedagogical and Phenomenological Contexts Malte Brinkmann,Johannes Türistig,Martin Weber-Spanknebel,2025-05-28 What is real What is evident What is true These questions of the constitution of reality in our experiences are among the key questions of phenomenology since its beginning Lately they become especially relevant under conditions of digitalisation acceleration optimisation crises and pandemics In this volume these questions are taken up in different interdisciplinary and intercultural phenomenological perspectives from a pedagogical point of view Starting from a critique of instrumental scientism and optimisation the contributions in this book ask about the theoretical empirical methodological and practical constitution of reality within experiences of learning Bildung and education as well as the subjects materialities and mediality of such experiences in different pedagogical fields and institutions The contributions show how Phenomenological Pedagogy is fruitful to explore the realities of pedagogical practices by grasping lifeworldly lived bodily and social experiences in a qualitatively meaningful empirical and experience oriented way It can thus serve as an alternative to positivistic scientific idealistic or psychologistic approaches Recovering the Voice in Our Techno-Social World Deborah Eicher-Catt, 2020-02-18 Using a communicological perspective Recovering the Voice in our Techno Social World On the Phone identifies voice phone in Greek as the essential medium for a re enchantment of human communication in our highly impersonal techno social environment This book is a response to the growing concern by social critics that we are becoming a de voiced society because of our preferences for hyper textual image based forms of electronic connectivity Ironically while we are increasingly on the phone we are sacrificing our vocality within immediate ear to ear relations Framed by the trope of enchantment Deborah Eicher Catt argues that the immediacy of the sounding voice calls us and enchants us to make possible productive moments of resonance in which we might cultivate an interpersonal resilience in today s fast paced media saturated environment Scholars of media studies communication and sociology will find this book particularly useful The Enterprising Barrister Atalanta Goulandris, 2020-06-11 What is it like working as a barrister in the 21st century The independent Bar has transformed in the last 30 years into a commercialised enterprising profession Based on interviews with and observation of barristers and chambers staff this book identifies key changes that have taken place at the Bar and how these are reshaping and reformulating barristers professionalism and working culture This is the first empirical overview of the depth scope and effects of multiple reforms that have been imposed on the profession It explores how this once unified profession has fragmented as the lived experiences of barristers in different practice areas have diverged Highly specialised sets of chambers now operate like businesses whilst others who are dependent on legal aid funding struggle to survive This book offers a unique examination of different sites of change how the chambers model has evolved how entrepreneurial barristers market themselves how aspirant law students prepare to enter the profession and how regulatory and procedural reforms have imposed managerial constraints on practitioners The conclusion considers what the far reaching changes mean for the prospects of the Bar in England and Wales Geoscience for the Public Good and Global Development Gregory R. Wessel, Jeffrey K. Greenberg, 2016-05-18 Offers overview of applications of geosciences to sustainable development and geophilanthropic efforts worldwide and offers advice to guide creation of development projects Primacy of geologic input to all development activities is highlighted along with problems that are encountered and environmental issues that must be addressed Creole Cinema: Memory Traces Louise Hardwick, 2025-02-10 Creole Cinema Memory Traces is the first book written in English on Francophone Caribbean cinema It establishes a postcolonial Caribbean and fundamentally Creole theoretical framework for the interpretation of works which the author defines as Creole cinema through the lens of Patrick Chamoiseau s concept of the Trace m moire In so doing it examines the remarkable multisensory forms of memory expression performed by Creole cinema drawing on work on intercultural cinema and haptic visuality by Laura Marks and on Hamid Naficy's insights into accented cinema Initially undertaking a general survey which provides the most comprehensive account of Francophone Caribbean cinema to date the critical framework is then developed in a series of case studies which analyse Biguine 2004 directed by Guy Deslauriers with a screenplay by Chamoiseau Nord Plage 2004 directed by Jos Hayot again with Chamoiseau as author of the screenplay Rue Cases Nègres 1983 Sugar Cane Alley directed by Euzhan Palcy and Nèg maron 2005 directed by Jean Claude Barny Each case study establishes how the Trace m mwaire manifests in a complex haptic multisensory set of dynamics which can be discerned both in individual works and across a wider range of films considered in order to access and retrieve here with a particular emphasis on processes of creative intuition subaltern and marginalised memories and histories The study works in a consistently interdisciplinary manner across areas including Francophone Studies Film Studies Postcolonial Studies World Cinema and Black Studies and represents a timely intervention on urgent debates around black representation in cinema
