1. SCALABLE AND FLEXIBLE

Engaging tools like Alteryx allows you to transform complex data into valuable insights, quickly and efficiently, supporting a range of strategic initiatives. Alteryx analytics solutions can take advantage of an Alteryx workflow integrating no-code processes from business analysts and data professionals throughout the process.

2. INTEGRATED, EASY, INTELLIGENT DESIGN

Automation is traditionally written through custom codes, SQL or Python. While this is a valuable approach to data and automation, there aren't enough developers or analysts to meet the demand for value, and they lack the knowledge required to support data needs in fast, automated and low-cost processes. That's why most organizations turn to the community of data professionals.

Alteryx workflows make data (on the other hand) an easy-to-use, self-service, Alteryx Data Science professionals can build, modify their own queries and reports, regardless of skill level. This democratization of analytical insights and reporting allows companies to analyze the connected worlds of the everyday, organization and a more human-centered focus.

"The fact that I could process over 4.5 million rows of data from separate data sets without writing a single line of code was just incredible."
