Voyage Century Location Authentication Guide:

A Jewish Guide in the Holy Land Jackie Feldman, 2016-04-11 For many Evangelical Christians a trip to the Holy Land is an integral part of practicing their faith Arriving in groups most of these pilgrims are guided by Jewish Israeli tour guides For more than three decades Jackie Feldman born into an Orthodox Jewish family in New York now an Israeli citizen scholar and licensed guide has been leading tours interpreting Biblical landscapes and fielding questions about religion and current politics In this book he draws on pilgrimage and tourism studies his own experiences and interviews with other guides Palestinian drivers and travel agents and Christian pastors to examine the complex interactions through which guides and tourists co produce the Bible Land He uncovers the implicit politics of travel brochures and religious souvenirs Feldman asks what it means when Jewish Israeli guides get caught up in their own performances or participate in Christian rituals and reflects on how his interactions with Christian tourists have changed his understanding of himself and his views of religion

Leppard, 2025-02-21 Human Dispersal Human Evolution and the Sea is the first book length treatment of what has become known as the global Palaeolithic seafaring debate Until recently common consensus dictated that only in the last ten thousand years have humans routinely permanently and cross culturally traversed seas and oceans to colonize new lands New and sometimes contentious data from the Mediterranean and Island Southeast Asia challenge that consensus suggesting to some researchers that long distance voyaging is a behavior of great antiquity These scholars suggest that oceans and seas facilitated and encouraged planetary dispersal in our own genus rather than acting as barriers to dispersal If this model is correct it necessitates a radical rethinking of not only the big patterns of human history but also more deeply our models of emergent human behavior and when the capacity for highly complex and coordinated group behaviors emerged Exploring the data in detail the authors here show how a complex series of interrelated problems has tended to be treated in reductionist or overly simplistic terms Cherry and Leppard elucidate this complexity by bringing to bear perspectives from archaeology ecology and evolutionary biology They demonstrate not only that a series of unique circumstances evolutionary behavioral environmental and economic conspired to drive mass ubiquitous global colonization over the last ten millennia but also that earlier sparser data provide real insight into key social and behavioral thresholds even if there is little evidence to support the oceans as highways model for species other than our own A major intervention in this important debate Human Dispersal Human Evolution and the Sea explains the deep significance of the problem and the profound implications for history archaeology and biological anthropology Champlain Raymonde Litalien, Denis Vaugeois, 2004-11-17 This book is the definitive reference on Champlain and the birth of French America. It discusses not only the beginnings of L'Acadie, its development and the difficulties of colonization but also looks at France during Champlain's time and analyses how he has been remembered. Lavishly illustrated, Champlain brings together the thirty-two maps attributed to him, reproduced for the first time in colour, as well as illustrations of numerous rare artifacts, documents and a selection of drawings by Champlain. A tenacious, multitalented individual, Samuel de Champlain was a cartographer, an explorer and ultimately governor of the French colonies in the new world. His extensive writings, largely relating to his voyages, include the only known accounts of the Laurentian colony during the first quarter of the seventeenth century. Contributors include Bernard Allaire, Pauline Arseneault, Bernard Barbiche, Maurice Basque, Alain Beaulieu, Pierre Berthiaume, Gervais Carpin, Jean-Pierre Chrestien, Edward H. Dahl, Dominique Deslandres, John Dickinson, Nathalie Fiquet, Françoise Marc Gagnon, Gaetan Gervais, Laura Giraudo, Jean-Gilles Nisson, Jean-Yves Grenon, Patrice Groulx, Conrad E. Heidenreich, Cornelius Jaenen, Robert Larocque, Frank Lestringant, Raymonde Litalien, Nancy Marcotte, Denis Martin, Paul-Louis Martin, Christian Morissonneau, François Moureaux, Tienne Taillemite, Ric Thierry, Marcel Trudel and Laurier Turgeon. Humanities, 1993 The Broadview Anthology of Victorian Prose, 1832-1901 Mary Elizabeth Leighton, Lisa Surridge, 2012-08-20 The Victorian era witnessed dramatic transformations in print culture and this new anthology covers the exciting intellectual and social debates of the period. From first-person accounts of the lives of factory workers to Oscar Wilde's aesthetic theory and from narratives of British travelers in Africa and Asia to Havelock Ellis's theories of sexual inversion, the surprising diversity of nineteenth-century nonfiction writing is represented. Illustrations from Victorian periodicals provide a vivid sense of the original reading experience. The book's thematic organization emphasizes the social and historical contexts of prose writings as well as the way in which these writings address each other. In addition to a general critical introduction, the anthology features new thematic introductions by experts in the field.

Paralyses John Culbert, 2011-01-01 Modernity has long been equated with motion, travel and change, from Marx's critical diagnoses of economic instability to the Futurists' glorification of speed. Likewise, metaphors of travel serve widely in discussions of empire, cultural contact, translation and globalization, from Deleuze's nomadology to James Clifford's traveling cultures. John Culbert, in contrast, argues that the key texts of modernity and postmodernity may be approached through figures and narratives of paralysis: motion is no more defining of modern travel than fixations, resistance and impasse. Concepts and figures of travel, he posits, must be rethought in this more static light. Focusing on the French and Francophone context in which paralyzed travel is a persistent motif, Culbert also offers new insights into French critical theory and its often paradoxical figures of mobility, from Blanchot's spas to Barthes's derivé to Derrida's aporias and Glissant's diversions. Here we see that paralysis is not merely the failure of transport but rather the condition in which travel, by coming to a crisis, calls into question both mobility and stasis in the language of desire and the order of knowledge.

Paralyses provides a close analysis of the rhetoric of empire and the economy of tourism precisely at their points of breakdown which in turn enables a deconstruction of master narratives of exploration conquest and exoticism A reassessment of key authors of French modernity from Nerval and Gautier to Fromentin Paulhan Beckett Leiris and Boudjedra Paralyses also constitutes a new theoretical intervention in debates on travel translation ethics and postcoloniality
