Parents' Jobs and Children's Lives Toby Lee Parcel, Parents Jobs and Children s Lives considers the effects of parental working conditions on children s cognition and social development It also investigates how parental work affects the home environments that parents create for their children and how these home environments influence the children directly The theoretical underpinnings of the book draw from both sociology and economics in addition the authors make use of literature derived from developmental psychology Theoretically eclectic they rely on the personality and social structure framework developed by Melvin Kohn and his colleagues on arguments regarding the importance of family social capital developed by James Coleman as well as on ideas from Gary Becker s new home economics as guides to model specification The empirical basis for Parcel and Menaghan's study is a series of multivariate analyses using data drawn from the 1986 and 1988 waves of the National Longitudinal Survey's Child Mother data set. This data set matches longitudinal data on mothers derived from the National Longitudinal Survey of Youth with data on the children of these mothers born as of 1986. Children aged 3 to 6 were given age appropriate developmental assessments every two years in order to assess the influence of parental work on short term changes in their cognition and social behavior. The authors also devote considerable attention to the effects of fathers work and family structure on the well being of their children. Parcel and Menaghan's work brings evidence to bear on both the theoretical perspectives guiding the analyses and on current policy debates regarding the nexus of work and family.

Aids Awareness Through Community Participation Meenu Sharma, 2006. AIDS is the most devastating epidemic mankind has ever faced. Shapiro, Nathan H. Clemens, 2023-06-30. Now in a revised and expanded fifth edition that reflects current research and best practices in direct assessment and intervention, this text addresses a perennial need for school practitioners and practitioners in training. Presented is a comprehensive problem solving based approach for working with K-12 students who are struggling with reading, writing or mathematics. The book provides a framework for evaluating the instructional environment as well as each student's context and unique learning needs, planning instructional modifications and monitoring progress. The companion workbook, available separately, contains practice exercises and reproducible forms. New to This Edition: Revised throughout by new coauthor Nathan H. Clemens while retaining the core elements of Edward S. Shapiro's approach. New emphasis on the central role of language in reading, mathematics and writing development and difficulties and implications for working more effectively with linguistically and culturally diverse students. Fresh perspectives on behaviors that facilitate learning such as attention to task and following directions. Updated and expanded coverage of key topics: universal screening, progress monitoring, intensive individualized academic skills interventions and more. See also Academic Skills Problems Fifth Edition Workbook which provides the reproducible forms discussed in the text, practice exercises and additional useful materials in a convenient large size format. Success with English Communication Viviers, 1992-12. SURVEY OF RESEARCHES IN EDUCATION Prof. Sunil Kumar Singh, 2020-03-01.
