

Articles of Confederation

Who has the power?

Directions: Read the follow excerpts from the articles of Confederation, analyze who contains the power under these articles.

1. Article II: All states are independent from one another. The state governments will retain all powers that are not specifically given to the national Congress.

Who has the power (state or federal)?

Would this be considered a strength or a weakness for the federal government?

2. Article IV: To maintain friendly relations among the states, all free states and conduct business therein without extra taxes. If fugitives from one state are living in another state, they should be sent back to face prosecution. All records and judicial rulings applying to individuals in one state shall be accepted by all other states.

Find the Weakness

Directions: Read the follow excerpts from the Articles of Confederation, analyze the weaknesses of the articles based on the questions.

1. Look at articles two (II) and four (IV) together.

Article II: All states are independent from one another. The state governments will retain all powers that are not specifically given to the national Congress.

Article IV: To maintain friendly relations among the states, all free inhabitants can move among the states and conduct business therein without extra taxes. If fugitives from one state are living in another state, they should be sent back to face prosecution. All records and judicial rulings applying to individuals in one state shall be accepted by all other states.

How do these article contradict each other? How could it be difficult to enforce article four, given what you know about article two?

2. Look at articles eight (VIII) and twelve (XII) together.

Article VIII: To pay for war, states will receive money from the national Treasury in proportion to the amount of land they own. The state legislatures will collect the taxes needed to fund the Treasury.

Article XII: Congress pledges to repay any money borrowed from individual states during the revolution.

How do these article contradict each other? How could it be difficult to enforce article twelve, given what you know about article eight?

3. Look at articles five (V) and thirteen (XIII) together.

Article V: Every state legislature will send representatives to the national Congress. Each state shall have one vote in Congress, no more than seven delegates, and each state will have only one vote in Article XIII: All states agreed to abide by the Articles of Confederation. To amend the Articles, Congress and all the states must agree.

Would this be considered a strength or a weakness for the federal government?

Given article thirteen (XIII), do you think article five (V) would have been amended? Why or why not?
