Sekiguchi, Van Giap Nguyen, Anuwat Wiratsudakul, 2022-02-24 Global consultation on African swine fever Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2024-07-03 African swine fever is a viral hemorrhagic disease of domestic and wild pigs The disease has recently become one of the major global concerns for the livestock sector While eradication remains a distant goal in several endemic countries updated and science based control strategies are important for mitigating risks and reducing the socio economic impact of the disease for protecting the livelihoods of the most vulnerable along the value chain and for ensuring business continuity for the pork industry To support countries in their endeavor to manage the ASF risk the Food and Agricultural Organization FAO in collaboration with the World Organisation for Animal Health WOAH has brought together ASF experts risk managers and private sector representatives to provide latest scientific knowledge and consult on recommendations for updated more effective and sustainable disease management approaches

The consultation was held in FAO HQ in Rome on 12-14 December 2023 and was attended by more than 200 participants in person and online. Key recommendations include addressing human behavior along the value chain, updating international strategies based on scientific evidence, promoting passive surveillance in domestic pigs and wild boars, finding innovative ways for improving biosecurity along the value chain by understanding motivations, disincentives and incentives, fostering collaboration between stakeholders and engaging the private sector, carefully assessing vaccination options, exploring the possibility of partial culling, promoting and further developing costing tools for better preparedness and economic estimations, promoting compartmentalization and regionalization, zoning while working on improved trade strategies.

Emerging Infectious Diseases, 2013-07 COVID-19 and Behavioral Sciences Liz Steed, Kebede Beyene, Rebecca Anne Pedruzzi, Tracy Jackson, Amy Hai Yan Chan, 2022-02-21 Cumulated Index Medicus, 1975 The Use of Preventive Services by the Elderly Michael E. Gluck, Judith L. Wagner, Brigitte M. Duffy, 1989 Pregnancy and Postpartum Considerations for the Veterinary Team Emily Singler, 2023-11-09

Precautions often apply to pregnancy in any workplace but being a vet in practice presents additional specific risks. There are concerns and uncertainty about potential hazards from radiation and inhalant anesthesia, exposure to zoonoses and the additional mental stress in a profession that already carries high suicide risk. This book reviews considerations for professionals in clinical veterinary medicine, large and small animal, while pregnant and after giving birth. Veterinarian and veterinary writer, consultant and mentor Dr Emily Singler speaks directly to veterinary team members: veterinarians, technicians, CSRs, assistants, students who are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. She delivers scientific information on the specific risks to the mother and baby that may be encountered during pregnancy while working in veterinary medicine, with some of her own and others' experiences to add perspective and humor. The book also covers topics related to mental health challenges, announcing a pregnancy and planning for parental leave, navigating the fourth trimester and returning to work. We hope that having read this book, veterinary professionals, whether pregnant or working with pregnant colleagues, will feel better supported and empowered to make informed decisions.
