

WELCOME!

August 2012

Dear Parents,

It is a pleasure to have your child in our class. To start off the year right, we are sending you this Parent Survival Handbook that has been assembled to help you understand our homework requirements and other important information that will enable us to make this a very positive and rewarding year. We feel as though open lines of communication between the parent, student, and teachers are the key to promoting an educational climate that is conducive to learning. We are looking forward to working with you and your child. Together we can make a difference! You can help by sending us well-rested children with full tummies and a hug and a kiss still fresh on their minds. This sets the stage for a lovely day.

Please feel free to contact us at any time if there is a question or situation you would like to discuss. You will receive additional communication throughout the school year. We look forward to building a relationship with you and your child and thus providing the best education that we are capable of giving.

Sincerely,
Mandy Gregory and Tina Barrett

Working With Challenging Parents of Students With Special Needs Jean Cheng Gorman, 2004-03-12 Move beyond conflict to true collaboration with difficult parents of children with special needs by understanding their perspectives and using appropriate methods to address their concerns The Parent Partnership Toolkit for Early Years , Partnering with Parents to Ask the Right Questions Luz Santana, Dan Rothstein, Agnes Bain, 2016-09-19 How can we make it easier for schools and families to work together on behalf of all students It all begins by tapping into the different strengths educators and parents and caregivers can contribute to building a strong partnership Partnering with Parents to Ask the Right Questions by Luz Santana Dan Rothstein and Agnes Bain of the Right Question Institute presents a deceptively simple strategy for how educators can build effective partnerships with parents especially those who typically have not been actively involved in their children's schooling. It distills complex important ideas on effective civic participation into an easy to learn process that teaches parents two fundamental skills they can use to support the education of their children: monitor their progress and advocate for them, asking better questions and participating effectively in key decisions. Based on more than two decades of work and research in a wide range of low and moderate income communities, this book empowers overburdened and under-resourced educators and parents to work together and achieve their common goal of successful students. This indispensable guide includes case studies spanning K-12 classrooms and it explores ways to assist struggling students collaborate on IEPs and communicate with families of English language learners. The accessible and easy to use format, field-tested advice and vivid examples from schools that put the advice into practice make this a must-have for everyone from the classroom to the central office.

Literacy Assessment and Intervention for Classroom Teachers Beverly

DeVries, 2017-07-05 The fourth edition of this comprehensive resource helps future and practicing teachers recognize and assess literacy problems while providing practical effective intervention strategies to help every student succeed. The author thoroughly explores the major components of literacy, providing an overview of pertinent research, suggested methods and tools for diagnosis and assessment, intervention strategies and activities, and technology applications to increase students' skills. Discussions throughout focus on the needs of English learners, offering appropriate instructional strategies and tailored teaching ideas to help both teachers and their students. Several valuable appendices include assessment tools, instructions and visuals for creating and implementing the book's more than 150 instructional strategies and activities, and other resources.
