Introduction

Indira Gandhi was born on 19 November 1917. Her father was Jawaharlal Nehru, a nationalist leader and the first Prime Minister of independent India. The Nehru family was a prominent family politically, and her grandfather, Motilal Nehru, was a nationalist leader who led India's quest for independence from Britain. Indira Gandhi studied at various schools in India before acquiring higher education in Britain, specifically in the Somerville College in Oxford.

While in England, she met her future husband Feroze Gandhi, from whom she got the famous surname. However, Indira is not related to the famous Indian independence leader Mahatma Gandhi in any way. She returned to India in the year 1941 and married Feroze the following year. Indira Gandhi's political exposure began with her return to India, which coincided with her father's stint as the first Prime Minister of India (Steinberg 756). She subsequently served her father as his personal assistant.

Inevitably, as she rubbed shoulders with many politicians and leaders whom her father interacted with on a daily basis, her exposure to politics increased. When her father passed away in 1964, she secured a seat in India's parliament. Her status and influence further grew when she was appointed minister for Broadcasting.

Following the death of then Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, Indira Gandhi, and some of her political mentors, began a series of calculated maneuvers that would eventually see her assume the premiership seat in 1966. From her early days in politics, Indira Gandhi had shown a unique ability to win elections and outmaneuver opponents.

Therefore, with the help of the then president K. Kamaraj, she was eventually able to assume India's ultimate political seat as the country's Prime Minister. She served three consecutive terms from 1966 to 1977, winning three elections and after her party's defeat in 1977, she was able to rally her party members and followers, which saw her Congress Party win the following elections in 1980.

Krishna Sobti's Views on Literature and the Poetics of Writing Rosine-Alice Vuille, 2022-10-03 How does a writer discuss her creative process and her views on a writer s role in society How do her comments on writing relate to her works The Hindi writer Krishna Sobti 1925 2019 is known primarily as a novelist However she also extensively wrote about her views on the creative process the figure of the writer historical writing and the position of writers within the public sphere This study is the first to examine in detail the relationship between Sobti s views on poetics as exposed in her non fictional texts and her own literary practice The writer s self representation is analysed through her use of metaphors to explain her creative process Sobti s construction of the figure of the writer is then put in parallel with her idiosyncratic use of language as a representation of the heterogeneous voices of her characters and with her conception of literature as a space where time and memory can be held At the same time by delving into Sobti's position in the debate around women's writing especially through the creation of a male double the failed writer Hashmat and into her views on literature and politics this book also reflects on the literary debates of the post Independence Hindi literary sphere

Balagopal, The articles are responses at a point in time but why the book is important is because they are relevant even now They are about the arduous task of building democracy and charting the contours of the justice system in its everyday guise as well as when it sets out to make and implement policies Authoritarianism Balagopal points out lies immanent in the dominance of the national project by the hegemonic classes and castes The elites have deliberately sought to work this as well as regional contradictions to their advantage They do this by building a repository of social contempt and negativity against shifting targets religious minorities workers civil rights activists political dissenters dalits and adivasis movements and protesting women Balagopal writes about how in India the alchemy between caste class and the State creates a uniquely Indian alloy of fascism Reading them gives the impression that he was standing on top of a tall tower with a powerful pair of binoculars which enabled him to see what nobody else could In truth there was no tower and no binoculars just an extremely fine courageous and honest mind looking around at what others turn away from Arundhati Roy Indira Gandhi's India Henry C. Hart, 2019-03-04 India credited with the best institutionalized democracy of the Third World changed in 1975 apparently overnight and at the decision of one individual to a quasi dictatorship A transformation so remarkable prompted eight scholars of Indian politics to reexamine the sectors of the system they know well seeking explanations They reappraise the carry over of colonial institutions and procedures the distribution of power in the ruling party business influence the roles of the divided Communist parties the position of the administrative corps and of the army and unrest among the rural poor at its most volatile in the state of Bihar An introduction shows just what Mrs Gandhi changed the situation that triggered her action and the justification she advances A concluding chapter tests the facts of the Indian transformation against four major theories of political change in the developing world projection into politics of personality conflicts of the leader agrarian class conflict social mobilization and cultural assimilation and institutionalization A Companion to Indian Cinema Neepa Majumdar, Ranjani Mazumdar, 2022-08-23 A new collection in the Wiley Blackwell Companions to National Cinemas series featuring the cinemas of India In A Companion to Indian Cinema film scholars Neepa Majumdar and Ranjani Mazumdar along with 25 established and emerging scholars deliver new research on contemporary and historical questions on Indian cinema The collection considers Indian cinema's widespread presence both within and outside the country and pays particular attention to regional cinemas such as Bhojpuri Bengali Malayalam Manipuri and Marathi The volume also reflects on the changing dimensions of technology aesthetics and the archival impulse of film The editors have included scholarship that discusses a range of films and film experiences that include commercial cinema art cinema and non fiction film Even as scholarship on earlier decades of Indian cinema is challenged by the absence of documentation and films the innovative archival and field work in this Companion extends from cinema in early twentieth century India to a historicized engagement with new technologies and contemporary cinematic practices There is a focus on production cultures and circulation material cultures media aesthetics censorship stardom non fiction practices new technologies and the transnational networks relevant to Indian cinema Suitable for undergraduate and graduate students of film and media studies South Asian studies and history
