Dance, Sex, and Gender Judith Lynne Hanna, 1988-05-15 Ambitious in its scope and interdisciplinary in its purview Without doubt future researchers will want to refer to Hanna's study not simply for its rich bibliographical sources but also for suggestions as to how to proceed with their own work Dance Sex and Gender will initiate a discussion that should propel a more methodologically informed study of dance and gender Randy Martin Journal of the History of Sexuality Physics and the Art of Dance Kenneth Laws, 2002-03-14 Written by a physicist with professional dance training Physics and the Art of Dance explains how dancers can achieve better safer performances through an understanding of physics in motion Using simple non technical terms Kenneth Laws combines his knowledge of both physics and dance to describe how the laws of gravity momentum and energy affect dancing bodies The book explores the natural laws that govern the subtleties of balance the techniques of leaps and pirouettes and the impressive lifts and turns executed by ballet partners Finally Laws offers insight into two current discussions in the dance world the effect of body size on ballet technique and the relationship between science and the art of dance Beautiful original stop action photographs by Martha Swope along with clear diagrams illustrate the concepts described in the text Plus an intriguing puzzler at the beginning of each chapter provides an engaging entrance into the topics presented For those who want a more advanced understanding of the physics extensive appendices are provided This new book combines the best features of Laws's widely acclaimed The Physics of Dance and Physics Dance and the Pas de Deux by Laws and Cynthia Harvey Its expert application of the basic principles of physics to the art of dance will be an invaluable resource for dancers and dance instructors and will open a new level of appreciation for lovers of the form It will also appeal to physicists who seek to include the arts in their scientific pursuits Ballet 101 Robert Greskovic, 2005 Presents a look at the world of dance an analysis of ballet movement music and history a close up look at popular ballets and a host of performance tips Proceedings of Orbital Couples: Pas de Deux in the Solar System and the Milky Way, 2012

unleashed by Expo 67 Debunking conventional wisdom Century reclaims innovation from both its present day devotees and detractors by revealing how experimental artists critically challenge as well as discover and extend the capacities of new technologies Century offers a series of detailed cross media case studies that illustrate the cross fertilization of art technology and policy These cases span animation music sound art and acoustic ecology cybernetic cinema interactive installation art virtual reality telecommunications art software applications and the emergent metadiscipline of human computer interaction They include Norman McLaren's proto computational film animations projects in which the computer itself became an agent as in computer aided musical composition and choreography an ill fated government foray into interactive networking the videotext system Telidon and the beginnings of virtual reality at the Banff Centre Century shows how Canadian artists approached new media technologies as malleable creative materials while Canada undertook a political reinvention alongside its centennial celebrations Northern Sparks offers a uniquely nuanced account of innovation in art and technology illuminated by critical policy analysis

Writings on Ballet and Music Fedor Lopukhov, 2002 Although little known in the West Fedor Lopukhov was a leading figure in Russia's dance world for more than sixty years and an influence on many who became major figures in Western dance such as George Balanchine As a choreographer he staged the first post revolutionary productions of traditional ballets like Swan Lake and The Sleeping Beauty as well as avant garde and experimental works including Dance Symphony Bolt and a highly controversial version of The Nutcracker Fedor Lopukhov 1886 1973 was born and lived most of his life in St Petersburg He attended the ballet school affiliated with the Maryinsky later Kirov Theatre where he made his debut in 1905 danced as a soloist until 1922 and served as artistic director from 1922 through the end of that decade and for brief periods during the 1940s and 1950s

Ballet and Opera in the Age of Giselle Marian Smith, 2010-08-09 Marian Smith recaptures a rich period in French musical theater when ballet and opera were intimately connected Focusing on the age of Giselle at the Paris Op ra from the 1830s through the 1840s Smith offers an unprecedented look at the structural and thematic relationship between the two genres She argues that a deeper understanding of both ballet and opera and of nineteenth century theater going culture in general may be gained by examining them within the same framework instead of following the usual practice of telling their histories separately This handsomely illustrated book ultimately provides a new portrait of the Op ra during a period long celebrated for its box office successes in both genres Smith begins by showing how gestures were encoded in the musical language that composers used in ballet and in opera She moves on to a wide range of topics including the relationship between the gestures of the singers and the movements of the dancers and the distinction between dance that represents dancing entertainment staged within the story of the opera and dance that represents action Smith maintains that ballet pantomime and opera continued to rely on each other well into the nineteenth century even as they thrived independently The divorce between the two arts occurred little by little and may be traced through unlikely sources controversies in the press about the changing nature of ballet pantomime music shifting ideas about originality complaints about the ridiculousness of pantomime and a little known rehearsal score for Giselle

Relationscapes Erin Manning, 2012-08-17 A new philosophy of movement that explores the active relation between sensation and thought through the prisms of dance cinema art and new media With Relationscapes Erin Manning offers a new philosophy of movement challenging the idea that movement is simple displacement in space knowable only in terms of the actual Exploring the relation between sensation and thought through the prisms of dance cinema art and new media Manning argues for the intensity of movement From this idea of intensity the incipency at the heart of movement Manning develops the concept of preacceleration which makes palpable how movement creates relational intervals out of which displacements take form Discussing her theory of incipient movement in terms of dance and relational movement Manning describes choreographic practices that work to develop with a body in movement rather than simply stabilizing that body into patterns of displacement She examines the movement images of Leni Riefenstahl, Jeanne Jules Marey and Norman McLaren drawing on Bergson's idea of duration and explores the dot paintings of contemporary Australian Aboriginal artists Turning to language Manning proposes a theory of prearticulation claiming that language's affective force depends on a concept of thought in motion Relationscapes takes a Whiteheadian perspective recognizing Whitehead's importance and his influence on process philosophers of the late twentieth century Deleuze and Guattari in particular It will be of special interest to scholars in new media philosophy dance studies film theory and art history
