

My Passion For Arts And Crafts

At the age of eleven, I crocheted a piece of yarn into a yellow, lopsided hairband. After about a day's worth of wearing, the elasticity of headband gave away and it became an oversized mess. Still, I wore it as a badge of honor. It is amazing how a blasé piece of yarn could be transferred into something intricate with a work of a needle. I have always been an avid crafter. When my peers were out playing and soaking in the Vitamin D, I was making greeting cards. I would make them for reasons as mundane as telling my mom I loved the green beans she made for dinner last night; I just needed an excuse to pull out the paper and glitter pens and start a project.

As time progressed, my projects grew from greeting cards to the blanket I crocheted last summer-- it took three months and fifty granny squares. I have been lucky to have the time, the energy, and the resources to be artistic. My family has always encouraged my efforts, whether I am knitting a new hat or painting a woman. As my projects have evolved, I've come to realize that crafting things, useful or otherwise, is very much an important part of who I am. It allows me to employ my imagination, creativity, logic, and technical skills.

My projects are not made for the sake of making them. I feel a special connection to my family when I make things. I feel a connection to my grandmother when I use the crochet needle she gave me when I was twelve. I feel resourceful when I use the spare cork lying around the house to make coasters for the coffee table. Crafting for me is not just a hobby, not something I do when I am bored. It is a way to use my environment, to discover tools, and shortcuts, and new ways of looking at things. It's a chance for me

Lyden, 2014-02-04 In January 1839 photography was announced to the world Two years prior a young Queen Victoria ascended to the throne of Great Britain and Ireland These two events while seemingly unrelated marked the beginnings of a relationship that continued throughout the nineteenth century and helped construct the image of an entire age A Royal Passion explores the connections between photography and the monarchy through Victoria's embrace of the new medium and her portrayal through the lens Together with Prince Albert her beloved husband the Queen amassed one of the earliest collections of photographs including works by renowned photographers such as Roger Fenton Gustave Le Gray and Julia Margaret Cameron Victoria was also the first British monarch to have her life recorded by the camera images of her as

Hume, Passion, and Action Elizabeth Schmidt Radcliffe, 2018 David Hume's theory of action is well known for several provocative theses including that passion and reason cannot be opposed over the direction of action Elizabeth S Radcliffe defends an original interpretation of Hume's views on passion reason and motivation which is consistent with other theses in Hume's philosophy loyal to his texts and historically situated She challenges the now orthodox interpretation of Hume on motivation presenting an alternative that situates Hume closer to Humeans than many recent interpreters have Part of the strategy is to examine the thinking of the early modern intellectuals to whom Hume responds Most of these thinkers insisted that passions lead us to pursue harmful objects unless regulated by reason and most regarded passions as representations of good and evil which can be false Understanding Hume's response to these claims requires appreciating his respective characterizations of reason and passion The author argues that Hume's thesis that reason is practically impotent apart from passion is about beliefs generated by reason rather than about the capacity of reason Furthermore the argument makes sense of Hume's sometimes ridiculed description of passions as original existences having no reference to objects The author also shows how Hume understood morality as intrinsically motivating while holding that moral beliefs are not themselves motives and why he thought of passions as self-regulating contrary to the admonitions of the rationalists Essays on History, Biography, Geography, Engineering, Etc Francis Egerton Earl of Ellesmere, 1858 Art and Love in Renaissance Italy Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), Kimbell Art Museum, 2008 Many famous artworks of the Italian Renaissance were made to celebrate love marriage and family They were the pinnacles of a tradition dating from early in the era of commemorating betrothals marriages and the birth of children by commissioning extraordinary objects maiolica glassware jewels textiles paintings that were often also exchanged as gifts This volume is the first comprehensive survey of artworks arising from Renaissance rituals of love and marriage and makes a major contribution to our understanding of Renaissance art in its broader cultural context The impressive range of works gathered in these pages extends from birth trays painted in the early fifteenth century to large canvases on mythological themes that Titian painted in the mid 1500s Each work of art would have been recognized by contemporary viewers for its prescribed function within the private domestic domain BOOK JACKET

Probability and Literary Form Douglas Lane Patey, 1984-04-12 This highly original and penetrating study explores fundamental intellectual predispositions and concepts which underpin the literature and thought of the Augustan period in England By examining in particular Augustan notions of probability and the way they provided a framework for thinking about and organising experience Dr Patey reconstructs a characteristically eighteenth century theory of literature which offers a much more satisfactory account of the work of Pope Johnson Fielding and others than the Romantic literary categories already in existence The scope of this study is encyclopaedic and it will be an essential reference work for all scholars of eighteenth century English literature and intellectual history as well as historians of ideas Encyclopedia of the Essay Tracy Chevalier, 2012-10-12 This groundbreaking new source of international scope defines the essay as nonfictional prose texts of between one and 50 pages in length The more than 500 entries by 275 contributors include entries on nationalities various categories of essays such as generic such as sermons aphorisms individual major works notable writers and periodicals that created a market for essays and particularly famous or significant essays The preface details the historical development of the essay and the alphabetically arranged entries usually include biographical sketch nationality era selected writings list additional readings and anthologies Art Essays Alexandra Kingston-Reese, 2021-12-15 Art Essays is a passionate collection of the best essays on the visual arts written by contemporary novelists With an introduction by literary critic and editor Alexandra Kingston Reese Art Essays is an enthralling vision of a new wave of literary essays shaping contemporary culture Essays: Essays, generally published in the year 1765 Oliver Goldsmith, 1804 Prefaces, The bee, essays, etc Oliver Goldsmith, 1816 The Passions of John Addington Symonds Shane Butler, 2022 The first critical analysis to embrace a wide and representative selection of John Addington Symonds's work beyond his famous essays. It explores Symonds as a complex thinker with an ambitious vision of the queerness of the world itself and follows his engagement with the art and literature of classical antiquity. — 50 Successful Harvard Business School Application Essays, Staff of the Harvard Crimson, 2022-12-27
