Vlaardingerbroek, Neil Taylor, 2009 Summative assessment has been a contentious issue in educational circles for several decades particularly high stakes assessment events which arise at various junctures of the school cycle especially those at the end of it The French Baccalaureat and English A Levels and their numerous clones throughout the francophone and anglophone worlds are household names and represent milestone events in people s lives as their outcomes are principal determinants of young people s future prospects These examinations are external they are devised conducted and processed by agencies outside the schools usually ministerial examination units As such they act as blind arbiters of student achievement providing the proverbial level playing field which ensures the comparability of outcomes In the pyramidal school structures of yesteryear examinations acted as filters regulating the progression of pupils to subsequent tiers of formal education Exit points occurred from primary school level up from where unsuccessful candidates could enter the labour force and or embark on occupationally specific further education and training With the modernisation of the labour market and an ever higher social demand for access to higher levels of formal education the filtering function of examinations at lower levels of schooling has been gradually eroded while burgeoning numbers of students at the upper secondary level have brought about reforms that include curricular diversification and sometimes radical overhauls of terminating assessment systems including the modification and in some instances abandonment of external examinations This edited volume brings together the experiences of twenty examination systems from around the world to show how these dynamic entities have adapted over time to the changing context of schooling Following an introduction by Stephen P Heyneman of World Bank repute there are sixteen chapters presenting Country Case Studies which have been written up under common subheadings thereby highlighting the comparative nature of the work and facilitating cross referencing The subsequent four chapters elaborate on the theme of external examinations beyond national borders including a contribution by the International Baccalaureate Organisation A defining feature of the work is the attention it pays to what it calls the nuts and bolts of external examinations from question setting to grading procedures These are it is argued instrumental in nurturing and maintaining public confidence in external examinations The book will be of immense value to people involved in educational policy studies especially strategic educational planning as well as those directly concerned with formal assessment The work has been written to appeal to a wide audience of informed persons it is accessible to teachers and interested laypeople as well as to academics

Singapore PSLE Mathematics Extreme Drill Solutions (Yellowreef) Thomas Bond,Chris Hughes,2013-12-09 Reforms and Issues in School Mathematics in East Asia ,2010-01-01 Worldwide efforts to improve students learning of mathematics have turned educational researchers attention to some high achieving education systems especially those in East Asia including Chinese Mainland Hong Kong Japan Singapore South Korea and Taiwan However there is much less sharing and learning of educational policy and practices that goes beyond one or two such high achieving education systems At this time when educational changes and reforms for improving students learning of mathematics are also underway within these high achieving education systems in East Asia it becomes timely and important for the world to learn why and how relevant changes take place across these selected education systems This book has put together a set of papers that individually presents issues on the changing mathematics curriculum and teacher education in the six high achieving education systems in East Asia Collectively the book extends beyond what we can learn about exemplary practices in individual education systems in East Asia It helps us develop a better understanding of the interplay between various measures for the pursuit of excellence in mathematics curriculum and teacher education on the one hand and the different system contexts on the other The intended readers of the book include education policy makers curriculum developers researchers teachers teacher educators and anyone else interested in school mathematics curriculum and teacher education Mathematics Education Khoon Yoong Wong,2009 This title provides much food for thought and pointers to meet future challenges in mathematics education not only within Singapore but also in other countries Understanding Test and Exam Results Statistically Kaycheng Soh,2016-08-09 This book shares the goal of the classic text How to Lie with Statistics namely preventing and correcting statistical misconceptions that are common among practitioners though its focus is on the educational context It illustrates and discusses the essentials of educational statistics that will help educational practitioners to do this part of their job properly i e without making conceptual mistakes The examples are cast in the school classroom contexts based on realistic rather than theoretical examples The strongest aspect of the work or author s view is that the author can put himself in the shoes of teachers and make the work a very practical guide for teachers and school leaders As a very experienced educator and researcher the author knows very well about the knowledge skills that are essential for the professional development of teachers He is able to explain the statistical and measurement concepts in plain language and with examples that are highly relevant to the target audience In addition the author also conveyed an important message to the target audience throughout the work by pointing out the mistakes and misunderstandings of the interpretation of test scores and measurement design The author reminds the audience about the importance of proper use of tests and test scores when teachers and school leaders make any education decisions which has much implication on the professional integrity of teachers and school leaders Dr Joyce Kwan The Education University of Hong Kong Hong Kong This book covers all the statistical tools for analyzing educational data and provides examples to explain the ideas Chapters 10 17 are practical data analysis in educational data that helps readers have a better understanding of the procedure to analyze the data Dr Alpha Ling The Education University of Hong Kong Hong Kong It looks like a very interesting book with attractive topics and practical problems in educational statistics Though the topics remind me of the classic book How to Lie with Statistics this book aims at preventing and correcting statistical misconceptions in educational context Dr Zhu Ying National Institute of Education Nanyang Technological University Singapore Education for Kagisano : study tour of educational institutions in Botswana by Directors of African Curriculum Centres from May 25 to 30, 1980 Udo Bude,1980 Charting Reform, Achieving Equity in a Diverse Nation Gail L. Sunderman,2013-05-01 This book examines what equity means in a nation where the schools are becoming more diverse The authors consider how well our educational reform policies often framed in the language of equity and opportunity measure up to the challenges of achieving equity in a diverse nation While there is growing awareness of the increasing racial ethnic and socioeconomic diversity of the nation there is little recognition of how these trends affect the schools particularly in formerly homogeneous communities At the same time inequalities in student achievement between different racial ethnic and socioeconomic groups persist even as educational policy has intensified the focus on the achievement gap These two challenges make definitions of equity and opportunity as urban problems obsolete and call for a critical examination of educational policy and reform from an equity perspective Central themes include the critical examination of how equity is conceived under the law and in policy the experiences of minority students in suburban schools and the impact of current reform policies and strategies for achieving greater educational opportunities for all students This book is designed for graduate and undergraduate courses in educational policy and policy analysis for policymakers interested in a critical examination of current reform policies and options and educational leaders and administrators struggling with the implementation of reform mandates From a policy perspective it includes a survey of the evolution of educational policies and reforms since the 1960s and traces the mix of legal and legislative legacies that have informed educational policy and equity It describes how trends in suburban diversification affect the schools something that has largely escaped the attention of educational reformers It provides school based and non school based remedies for achieving equity in diversifying suburban communities and articulates alternatives to the current accountability for performance approach It offers new and innovative analyses of current approaches to school reform including an analysis of how accountability tests can create the illusion of reducing the achievement gap and an examination of the paradoxes of federally funded compensatory policies that incorporate market based strategies Novel approaches such as social emotional learning and placed based college access strategies are examined through an equity lens The English Language David Crystal,1988
