- Enterprise-Strength Deployment Infrastructure – Oracle9iAS ProcessConnect provides a number of new features that improve the product's ability to meet the performance, manageability, and scalability requirements of large-scale enterprise environments. Key features include:

    - Hub and Spoke Topology – Oracle9iAS ProcessConnect supports a hub and spoke topology. A single hub may support many spokes – applications, B2B protocols, and web services. Spokes (Adapters) may optionally run on hardware outside of the application server.

    - Integrity / Consistency – the run-time system provides extensive new features to ensure the consistency and integrity of the integration system. A central "Coordinator" orchestrates all integration activity to ensure consistency of business process and data moving through the system. The "Coordinator" is transactional to ensure the integrity of data and processes.

1.2 Oracle Workflow

Oracle9iAS (9.0.4) introduces a number of new Workflow features to provide simplified configuration and management.

Complete Manager Integration In Oracle9iAS (9.0.4), the Workflow Manager is integrated with Oracle Enterprise Manager (OEM). The Workflow Manager delivers a 'dashboard' style of interface accessible through a URL, allowing system administrators to manage Oracle Workflow from a single console.

The Workflow Manager allows system administrators to control Workflow system services, such as background engines, the Notification Mailer, agent listeners, queue propagation, and purging obsolete Workflow data. Administrators can also monitor work item processing by viewing the distribution of all work items by status and drilling down to additional information. Additionally, they can monitor event message processing for local Business Event System agents by viewing the distribution of event messages by status. With this ability to monitor work items and event messages, a system administrator can identify possible bottlenecks easily.

Notification Mailer The Notification Mailer provides the ability to notify individuals and groups electronically. Notifications can be delivered via e-mail. In 9.0.4 the Notification Mailer has been redesigned with a new wizard based UI, to run as a multi-threaded servlet application for improved configuration, management and performance.

Mailer Parameters The setup of the Notification Mailer involves configuring certain parameters, such as the outbound e-mail server name, the name of the folder to receive inbound e-mails, the protocol of the inbound e-mail server, the password for the inbound e-mail server, and so on. The configuration parameters are no
